

Fair Competition Code Order Prosecution Relating To Sale of New Automobiles In Effect

Washington, Oct. 13 (AP)—United States attorneys today were under orders to prosecute the 44 persons known to be holding more than $1,000 in gold illegally.

Attorney General Cummings demanded the immediate action in a letter to prosecuting officials calling attention to the administration order against gold hoarding. More than $500,000,000 in gold coins, certificates and bullion still is in circulation.

Later, Cummings plans to prosecute those hoarding more than $100 in gold, he told attorneys.

"You should feel free to call upon special agents of the division of investigation for any additional information or inquiry which you deem necessary."

Taxpayer-Workers Party Still Has Two Candidates On List

Inquiry at Board of Elections Brings Out Statement That Up to 1 O'clock They Had Received No Official Notice of Mr. Flanagan Declining Nomination of New Party.

Although elsewhere in The Freeman will be found a letter from Frank Flanagan, Democratic candidate for mayor, stating he had declined the nomination for mayor on the newly organized Taxpayer-Workers Party at the Ulster county board of elections no official notice of his action had been filed up to 1 o'clock this afternoon, according to a statement received over the telephone.

Even if Mr. Flanagan does decline there is a committee on vacancies consisting of Mrs. Selma S. Block, wife of the late former Mayor Morris Block, John C. Hummel and Robert H. Schultz, who can fill the vacancy.

Even if the office of mayor is left vacant the new party will appear on the ballot unless the other two Democratic candidates, Sam N. Mann and Judge Culliton follow Mr. Flanagan's example and decline nomination.

SAYS LAWBREAKERS ARE A CHALLENGE TO GOVERNMENT

Washington, Oct. 13 (AP)—The gangster, kidnaper and extortionist today were termed a challenge to organized government by Senator Copeland (D-NY) chairman of the senate committee investigating racketeering.

In an address before the national anti-crime conference under the auspices of the United States Flag Association, Copeland asserted:

"We must choose between bowing the knee to the predatory criminal and finding some effective means of dealing with the rats of the underworld."

"The American people must rise in its might and shake off the shackles of criminal control, or else the increasing boldness and grasp of power will make the criminal supreme in his authority."

The real remedy in fighting crime, Copeland said, "goes to the very foundation of society," he added:

"Until we rise a generation of mentally balanced citizens trained from their youth in law observance and love of country, we will be facing the same problem."

Treasury Receipts.

Washington, Oct. 13 (AP)—The position of the treasury October 11 was: Receipts $72,880,330.90; expenditures $72,225,602.43; balance $1,163,220,545.44; customs receipts for the month, $11,658,017.27. Receipts for fiscal year to date (since July 1) $831,999,037.64; expenditures, $1,065,978,554.18; including $315,832,124.93 emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $233,979,516.51.

Seaman Killed in Explosion

San Pedro, Calif., Oct. 12 (AP)—One seaman was killed and several others injured in an ammunition explosion aboard the light cruiser Cincinnati at sea off this port, according to meager advices received here today. The explosion was in the ship's forward 6-inch gun house. Oranger G. Allen, seaman, second class, of Irvington, Ky., was killed.

which does not sell well in a territory. For instance an open car which has been actually carried on inventory of a dealer for 45 days may be disposed of at a reduced price in the late fall when demand has ceased. All new cars must have speedometers connected up immediately on receipt by the dealer.

Provision for establishing districts is included in the code together with enforcement methods to see that the code is carried out.

District, State and National organizations are recognized as mediums through which the code will operate with the National Automobile Dealers Association acting as the medium through which all required statistics will be gathered. The books of all organizations must be available to ascertain whether the code is being abided by.

Complete copies of the code are available for dealers desiring to make a study of its provisions.

The Marketing Rules

The following marketing rules shall take effect November 3, 1933:

No dealer shall sell a new car at retail to a consumer for less than factory list price plus amount of equipment, tax transportation and actual handling costs.

The only exception is in the event of a sale to the immediate family of a dealer or a member of the organization.

Re-sale of demonstrators is also regulated. No demonstrator shall be sold to a consumer for less than list price except where the demonstrator has been in use for 60 days or has at least 3,500 miles. Speedometer set-back practices are prohibited. Commissions to customers are prohibited on sale of cars.

However a mark-down is provided for to dispose of cars on the floor when a new model is announced and also for the disposal of a model

Fashion Show, Ball Topics Treated at Meeting of Kiwanis

Ball Slogan to be "One Ticket Supplies a Child With Milk for a Month"—All Committees Hard at Work to Make Affair Spectacular.

Reports of committees and matters connected with the big ball and fashion show to be held in the new armory October 15 occupied the attention of Kiwanians at the weekly luncheon held at the Governor Clinton Thursday.

The show is to be held for the benefit of the milk fund sponsored by Kiwanis, this one activity costs the club about $1,000 a year according to Harry Halverson, general chairman of the committee in charge of the show. President St. John turned the conduct of the business meeting over to Mr. Halverson, following the introduction of the guests of the day. Guests present were E. Frank Flanagan, E. A. Freer and James L. Rowe of Kingston, E. Flag Vost of Morristown, N. J., and Lewis A. Scammell of Worcester, Mass.

Before the adjournment of the session Mr. Scammell spoke briefly of the work done by the large Worcester Kiwanis Club, where a clinic is conducted at an expense of some $2,200 a year. He said that their work got its real start when they brought Roy and his gang to Worcester and cleared $5,000 with three concerts. Mr. Scammell's travels cover a large territory and he makes a point never to miss attending a Kiwanis luncheon if he can help it. He told the Kingston members that three years ago he attended 113 luncheons and "lived through it."

Dr. Julian Gifford was to have given the talk of the day, but his talk was postponed to another occasion. In order that more time might be given to business pertaining to the coming fashion show and ball.

Principal Clarence Dumm of the High School spoke of the salutary effect the poster contest conducted at the school had upon those taking part. First prize was taken by a student who came from Massachusetts, who had never had any instruction in art nor encouragement to prove his ability in that line. He personally thanked the club and Mr. Halverson for putting on the contest. Mr. Halverson was to visit the high school this morning and present the prizes.

William B. Byrne reported for the committee in charge of sale of tickets. About 100 patrons' tickets have already been taken, outside of those taken by members of the club and an active campaign will be waged to greatly increase that number. Chairman Halverson urged the members to work with enthusiasm worthy of the cause they represented and to repeatedly impress upon all the slogan, "$1.50 buys milk for a month."

Paul Zucca reported that visitors to the armory October 19 were going to see a good fashion show and that best of all it would be a local show put on by local merchants, with local models and that Kingston merchants would be the beneficiaries. He said that most fashion shows were held for the benefit of some concern and that an out of town concern had wanted to put on this show, but that it had been decided to keep it strictly Kingston affair and permit benefits that might come from it. He stated that the show would last about an hour and a half. The only outside assistance will be given by Rita Gould, an expert in the conducting of fashion shows. Mrs. Raymond R. Gross will also take an active part in putting on the show.

In addition to the fashion show proper there will be a number of entertainment features and Mr. Halverson stated that he believed they were as good as any ever brought to Kingston.

President St. John announced that the basket of very beautiful dahlias that adorned the table were the gift of Walter Ostrander—and he was still further pleased to state that they had been presented to the president's wife. Paul Zucca led in the singing during the luncheon hour, with Danny Bittner at the piano.

Russo-Jap Tension Grows Over Railroad

Moscow, Oct. 13 (AP)—The tightly drawn cord of diplomatic relations between Russia and Japan was stretched a bit nearer the breaking point today.

It was strained farther with reports from Khabarovsk, Siberia, of the arrest of two more Soviet officials of the Chinese Eastern Railway in the Japanese-assisted state, Manchukuo.

Only a few days ago, a sensation was created here with the publication of what allegedly were documents describing a Japanese plan to seize the railway.

One by one, it was said, the few remaining Soviets among the road's officials were to be removed, eventually giving Manchukuo complete control.

The two latest arrests reportedly were made as Soviet Consul General Slavutski at Harbin renewed his demands for an answer to his previous reports.

Meanwhile, from Tokyo came a foreign office spokesman's statement which indicated Japan's stand remained unchanged.

"Several days of careful deliberation," he said, will precede Nippon's next move in the controversy.

Flanagan, Democratic Candidate, Refuses to Be New Party Nominee

E. Frank Flanagan, Regular Democratic Candidate for Mayor, Refuses to Accept Nomination of "Taxpayer-Workers" — Gives His Stand.

E. Frank Flanagan, Democratic candidate for mayor, and selected by the newly-formed "Taxpayer-Workers Party," today in a letter to The Freeman refused the nomination from that party, whose petitioners were formerly members of the Democratic party. His letter of explanation follows:

October 13, 1933.

Editor Freeman:

I am deeply appreciative of the confidence shown me by the nomination for mayor by the Taxpayer-Workers Party. I understand the petition filed was signed by 954 voters, and am informed that another petition signed by over 800 workers was not filed. I am grateful to each and every voter who signed such petitions in my behalf, which petitions were not initiated nor sponsored by me.

As the candidate for mayor of the Democratic party, it is my earnest desire that the campaign be characterized by fairness and be free from all complications and confusion. I want the contest between my estimable opponent and myself to be as simple and direct as possible. So, although realizing I am releasing very substantial support, I shall decline the nomination of the Taxpayer-Workers Party for the reasons given and in the interest of economy.

It shall be my sincere effort to inspire the support of both the tax-paying element and the working voters of the city and the citizens in general. All pledges made by me shall be sacred, and, if elected, I shall be faithful to the duties, responsibilities and obligations of the mayorship. I shall do all things for the common good of all rather than for the particular interests of any individuals.

The taxpayers are the financial supporters of the city. The budget is a municipal bill they must pay. I pledge myself to cut out all unnecessary and non-essential items. I further promise to effect all possible economies and all possible savings and adopt all retrenchment consistent with good administration of the affairs of the city. I shall make a budget with the sole view of economy and efficiency with reductions wherever and whenever possible. I also give my honest word to make the payment of taxes in installments as easy as possible to the taxpayers. In addition, I shall be glad to have the taxpayers assist me in the making of the budget by having a committee representing them participate in the preparatory work.

The chief source of our city taxes is real estate.

Besides having a balanced budget and having the city departments live up to it, I shall make every effort to remedy any inequality of assessments. It shall be my utmost endeavor to see that no taxpayer bears more than his just and fair share of taxes.

The third part of my program to help the taxpayers shall be an accounting system as simple as possible so that the public may know city finances. Under my administration, the taxpayers will not see the budget made up, but will be able to watch their money as it is expended. Reports will be made by the different departments, either monthly or otherwise, so that the taxpayers will have at all times a clear picture of the finances of the city.

I have a deep interest in the workers of the city, and particularly the unemployed. I have come in close contact with their struggles. The jobs are to be complemented for the persevering patience and fortitude and spirit they have shown in the face of serious distress. I shall favor unemployment relief on the basis of need and merit. These jobs don't want charity but a chance to work. I shall make it my first and primary duty to give my very best efforts to help the unemployed get back to work.

In general, I pledge all citizens and voters that, if elected, I shall call forth all constructive factors that have developed within me from my business training and my civic experiences to manage our city of Kingston carefully with economy and efficiency, guarding against waste and expending the taxpayers' money judiciously, giving all my energy and using every effective agency for the proper benefit and progress and prosperity of our city and our good people.

Respectfully,
E. FRANK FLANAGAN.

Canadian Newspaperman Dead

Toronto, Oct. 13 (AP)—Arthur Hawkes, 62, prominent Canadian newspaperman, died last night after a brief illness. He came to Canada from London in 1905 to become editor of the Toronto World. Later he founded the newspaper the British News of Canada, and aided in the formation of the Amalgamated Press Service in Canada, from which the Canadian Press emerged. He is survived by his widow and four daughters.

Eugene Cornwell Is Republican Candidate For Alderman of 11th Ward

Member of Business Staff of The Freeman Is Well Qualified to Look After Interests of His Ward—Volunteer Fireman and Active in the American Legion—Brief Sketch of His Life.

EUGENE CORNWELL

Eugene Cornwell, Republican candidate for alderman of the Eleventh Ward, is one of the younger business men of Kingston, and is also active in the affairs of the American Legion and the volunteer fire department of the city. He was born in Cossack, and graduated from the grammar school when he came to Kingston in the fall of 1910 and entered the employ of The Freeman in the branch office on Fair street.

Mr. Cornwell was attached to the uptown office for two years and then transferred to the main office downtown where he is now employed.

When this country entered the World War, Mr. Cornwell served as a member of the 51st Pioneer Infantry and received his military training at Camp Wadsworth at Spartanburg, South Carolina. He served overseas for about one year, seeing service in France and Germany where he was a member of the Army of Occupation.

Mr. Cornwell has always been deeply interested in fireman matters and is an active member of Wiltsyck Hose Company. He was elected treasurer of that organization in 1916, and is still serving as the company's treasurer.

Some years ago he was one of the founders of the Pioneer Veterans of F 51, being a past president of that organization and its present secretary. He also helped to organize the 51st Pioneer Infantry Association which is composed of members of that regiment. Both organizations are World War organizations. He is secretary of the regimental association, having been elected to office at the time the organization was formed in this city in 1924.

At the tenth reunion of the regiment in Hempstead this year he was presented with a leather traveling case in recognition of his service as secretary of the association.

Mr. Cornwell is also one of the most active members of Kingston Post No. 150, American Legion. He served as the first adjutant in the Legion Memorial Building, and was again elected to that office in 1932. He also served as editor of the Kingston Legionnaire, the local Post paper, for over a period of two years, besides having served on various committees of the Post. He is a member of the American Legion Drum Corps and has served as secretary of that organization since it was formed in 1927.

In 1920 he was married to Miss Hester J. R. Little, youngest daughter of the late Dr. W. E. Little, and with his family reside on Pine street.

This is Mr. Cornwell's first venture in politics and his ability assures his election by a handsome majority on November 7.

La Guardia Will Not Mince Words

New York, Oct. 13 (AP)—Florence La Guardia pulled some burning adjectives from the oratorical forge today to use in the direction of Joseph V. McKee.

La Guardia, carrying the fusion group hopes in as roaring a majority campaign as New York has seen in years, announced he would not mince words tonight when he replies in detail to the opening campaign shafts of McKee, independent candidate for mayor. McKee dubbed La Guardia a "demagogue" and as a Republican congressman who had "thwarted every concerted action that might have aided our nation's recovery."

"The McKee speech," said La Guardia to an audience that packed a high school auditorium in the Bronx, McKee's home grounds, last night, "was the most brazen compilation of political hypocrisy ever delivered in a political campaign. I shall answer that speech paragraph by paragraph. Incidentally McKee will hear something about his own record. There is one thing that (Postmaster General) Farley and (Secretary of State) Flynn cannot do for their boy Joe. They cannot destroy public records."

Formed Company For Tax Purposes

Washington, Oct. 13 (AP)—James V. Forrestal, a member of Dillon Read & Company, told Senate investigators today of the formation of a private company for tax purposes.

Smoking a pipe as he testified, Forrestal said he organized in 1929 or 1928 a company owned entirely by his wife and himself with a subsidiary in Canada.

In 1929, after he had transferred some of his stock holdings to the Canadian company, Forrestal said he paid an income tax of $300,000, both state and federal. He testified he did not know how much it would have been if the company had not been organized.

Since 1929 the banker said he paid no income because "I have had no income."

John A. Snyder Dead In Saugerties Home

Was Long Prominently Identified With Banking and Business Circles In That Village—One of Republican Leaders of That Town and a Former County Treasurer.

John A. Snyder, long prominent in Ulster county banking and political circles, died at his home in West Bridge street, Saugerties, Thursday evening after an extended illness. He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Van Voorhis and Mrs. Helen Russell; a son, Robert A. Snyder, and a sister, Miss Sarah E. Snyder. Funeral services will be held from the late home Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock with interment in Mountain View cemetery in Saugerties.

Mr. Snyder was a Republican in politics and for years had been one of the leaders of the party. He served the town of Saugerties as supervisor from 1908 to 1913, and in 1913 he was elected county treasurer, serving from 1914 to 1916. He always had taken an active interest in the political affairs in Ulster county and was one of the outstanding men in the party organization. He had also served Saugerties as a member of the board of education.

Mr. Snyder for years was president of the Saugerties & New York Steamboat Company.

He was also prominent in banking circles and succeeded his father as president of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Saugerties, from which position he resigned last spring, owing to ill health.

Fraternally he was a member of the Masonic Lodge of Saugerties and the Odd Fellows. For years he had been an active member of the Saugerties Reformed Church.

SUGGESTS GOVERNMENT PURCHASE SURPLUS MILK

Philadelphia, Oct. 13 (AP)—Asserting "The Dairy Trust" is "driving producers to bankruptcy," Representative Charles N. Crosby, of Erie county, has suggested to President Roosevelt that the Federal Government purchase surplus milk for distribution among the needy.

In his telegram Crosby said fulfillment of his suggestion "will go further to restore the National Dairy Industry than any other measure yet contemplated."

The message was made public by Wilbur K. Moffett, chairman of the milk code protest committee, Philadelphia. Copies were also sent to agricultural and relief executives of the government.

Crosby said the price paid farmers is less than the cost of production, while the "Trust" makes "enormous profits." He blames the "dishonest and tricky device of a basic price and surplus quota" and, in a letter to Moffett, pledges his aid in substituting another marketing agreement for the one in force in the Philadelphia milk shed.

SENATOR'S LONG TRIAL ENDS IN HIS FREEDOM

New York, Oct. 13 (AP)—The long trial through the federal courts ended for Senator James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania.

A jury's verdict cleared him late yesterday of charges that he caused the sending of lottery tickets across state borders in the promotion of a fund-raising enterprise for the Loyal Order of Moose, of which he is director-general.

Theodore G. Miller, head of the lodge's propaganda department, also was given his freedom by the verdict.

Freeman Ad Sells Lots of Eggs

"It pays to advertise in The Freeman," said Robert Reben today as he made arrangements for a series of advertisements about his chicken farm and the sale of eggs at 219 Flatbush avenue. "Since I started advertising, the demand for my leghorn eggs from pedigreed stock has been surprisingly heavy." Mr. Reben invites the public to inspect his chicken farm.

Run Down By Automobile

Canadaigua, N. Y., Oct. 13 (AP)—J. Albert Fack, 41, and his wife, Catherine, 40, of this city, were killed early today when run down by an automobile driven by Howard Ward, 22, of Geneva, according to the police report. Fack's car had run out of gas on the Rochester-Canadaigua highway and his wife was accompanying him to a nearby service station.

Debt Free Ulster County Was Topic At Club Meeting

Hon. Philip Elting Traces History of Republican Control of County Affairs For Past 20 Years—This Year Republican Party Stands Squarely on Its Record.

Ulster county under Republican control for the past 20 years is the only county in New York state that is absolutely debt-free, while in the same period of time New York city, under Democratic control, has a debt burden equal to that of the national government. It took Ulster county 20 years to draw out from under the debt that it had accumulated under Democratic control, but if Kingston had been given the same kind of Republican control for the past 20 years it would have stood in the same enviable condition as the county.

These facts were brought out in a talk given to the members of the Republican club in the Modern Hall on Grand street Thursday evening by the Hon. Philip Elting, for the past 30 years the leader of the Republican party in Ulster county.

The meeting last night was the largest held this year by the club and the hall was taxed to its capacity. Other speakers of the evening were N. LeVan Haver, assistant district attorney, Harry B. Walker, the Republican candidate for mayor, and Matthew V. Cahill, the Republican candidate for city judge.

Mr. Elting was given a rousing welcome as he entered the club rooms and held the close attention of his audience as he traced the forms of government which control the country. There are four forms of government under which we live, said the speaker. First there is the federal government, then the state, and the county and the city. Each imposes a tax upon the people of the country to defray the costs of government. He spoke briefly of the enormous debt that the present administration in Washington is contemplating of three billions of dollars and which will have to be paid by the people of the country.

Pay as You Go Policy

Mr. Elting in speaking of the affairs of Ulster county said he was proud of the record the Republican party had made. He said that the pay as you go policy had eliminated interest charges which amounted to large sums. As an incident he said that when the county was in control of the Democratic party the new jail had been built at a cost of $30,000, and the Democrats had issued bonds to pay for the cost of construction, the bonds to become due 25 years after the jail was built. During those 25 years the county paid out the sum of $71,000 in interest on the bonds.

County Budget Reduced

Last year the county had reduced its budget 56 per cent while the city had increased its budget 10 per cent. But fortunately for the city administration the county had lopped off $12 from the county tax paid by the city, which allowed the city to reduce its tax rate somewhat over the preceding year.

Fighting New York City

Mr. Elting said he wanted to impress upon his hearers the necessity for upstate New York to retain control of the assembly at Albany. It was the last safeguard between upstate and New York city. He told of the days of the building of the Ashokan reservoir and of the fight that the county had maintained against New York city to assess the water works property which the city wanted to be tax free. When New York was building its reservoir here it even elected one of its own men, Mr. Gathright, to the assembly.

Pledged City Economy

Mr. Elting said that this year the Republican party should be kept in control on its record of giving the county a business administration and be, as chairman of the Republican party, pledged that with the election of Harry B. Walker as mayor that the city would have a business administration.

If the residents were pleased with the administration they have had the past two years there was no more to say, but if they approved the administration given county affairs by the Republicans they could expect similar administration in city affairs.

In closing Mr. Elting urged that the entire Republican ticket from top to bottom be elected this fall.

Meets Next Thursday

The next meeting of the club will be held at the same place next Thursday evening.

Six Killed in Explosion

Vizagapatam, India, Oct. 13 (AP)—Six persons were killed and eight injured seriously in an explosion today at a fireworks factory. The plant collapsed and it was feared 10 workers were caught under the debris.

Auto Dealers Will Discuss NRA Code

Meeting Will Be Held Monday Evening at City Court Chambers—All Dealers Invited to Attend.

A meeting has been called by the Ulster County Automobile Dealers Association for Monday evening, next, at the city court chambers in the city hall. The meeting will convene at 7:30 o'clock and all automobile dealers in Ulster county are urged to be present or have a representative present. Attendance is not limited to members of the county association but every dealer holding New York state dealers' licenses is invited. At that time the NRA code which is now approved will be discussed and arrangements for the administration and selling of the code will be made.

Louis G. Stapley, manager of the Empire State Automobile Dealers Association, will be present as well as E. B. Mack, chairman of the district advisory committee for Eastern New York, who will address the meeting. W. A. Carpenter, who has been appointed administrator of the code in the capital district, will also be present. This is the district in which local dealers belong.

Aquatic products produced in Japan the last fiscal year totaled 131,442,475 yen.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Wedding—Chosen to officiate at the wedding this fall of Miss Alice Scribner, of Stevens Point, the Rev. Roscoe A. Barnes, of Milwaukee, instead will take charge of funeral services for the young woman at Stevens Point Saturday. Miss Scribner, a stewardess for United Air Lines, was one of the seven persons killed in an airplane crash near Chesterton, Ind., Tuesday.

Bloodhound Shortage

Quincy, Ill.—Eliza couldn't get chased across the ice on the stage of a Quincy theatre until Uncle Tom went into the negro district and found two dogs to do the work.

The bloodhound shortage was caused by the burning of a truck carrying equipment for presentation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin".

Today's Day

Chicago—This being Friday the thirteenth, the Anti-Superstition Society of Chicago decided tonight would be a good time to sponsor a production of "Ten Nights in a Barroom".

Thirteen actors will defy all thirteen of the very best superstitions. There are thirteen members of the organization, formed a year or so ago with the idea of proving that a jinx is not a jinx.

Blue Eagle Turns Green

St. Joseph, Mo.—To symbolize the spirit of the times, the blue eagle of the NRA is being painted on the green "Go Ahead" signs of all traffic lights in St. Joseph. The Chamber of Commerce sponsored the idea.

Read This: Then Knock Wood
Wheeling, W. Va.—"The meeting will come to order," cried the presiding officer, Grand Smasher Edward F. McKee, as he broke a mirror with his gavel. A black cat was released in the meeting room. And 13 new members were initiated. It was the customary Friday the 13th ceremony of the Anti-Superstition Club.

Be Careful, Men

East St. Louis, Ill.—Ruth Wilson, 20, readily admitted, police said, that she had passed worthless checks for $28.

"But," police quoted her as saying, "I have never passed bad checks on a friend. Anyone who cashes a check for a stranger deserves to lose his money. I have found it easy for a good-looking young woman to get money on checks."

Church Wedding

Bolton, Conn.—The Colton Center Congregational Church will have its first wedding in 35 years Sunday and the bridegroom will be its pastor, the Rev. Harold Wiltz. He will be married to Miss Edna May Ritchie of Chicago Heights, Ill.

Pirate's Gold

Tampa, Fla.—A group of Tampans are seeking the pirate gold that Gasparilla is supposed to have cached somewhere within the city. They have entered into an agreement with city officials to turn one-fourth of their find into the municipal treasury if and when they locate the pirate treasure.

New Style in Polar Bears

Seattle—Woodland Park Zoo will have the only two black polar bears in the world—until the rainy season starts. After that they'll gradually become white. Capt. John Backlund, Arctic trader, brought them here from Alaska. During the trip here they played in the coal bunkers and daubed themselves with seal oil and coal dust until it became imbedded.

Down But Not Out

Camden, N. J.—Patrolman Raymond Stark is undecided whether science and invention work to the advantage of criminals or the police. He put two prisoners in an elevator on the fifth floor of city hall and was about to follow them when the door was slammed in his face. Down went the prisoners. Stark said they would have escaped, too, but for the fact he was able to telephone an of-

Trade Tests Show Bean Coffees Keep Flavor Best

By Sarah Macmillan
Coffee Service Institute

REPUTATIONS have been made for or lost by housewives and restaurants, all on the kind of coffee they serve. The cook generally is blamed for any poor results that come from the kitchen. But at last, the housewives, at least, are getting a break on the always important question of good coffee, and that from no less source than the energetic organ of the industry, The Tea and Coffee Trade Journal.

This publication has just completed an investigation which shows that much undesirable coffee in American homes may be the coffee roasters' own fault. In short the coffee trade has been shown that much of the coffee that reaches the home-maker over the grocery counter is not fresh enough to make the good satisfying breakfast beverage that Americans love.

33 brands of coffee from all types of stores in all parts of the United States were purchased and put before a coffee expert to be tested for freshness, value and salability. Of the 33 brands 55 were found to be actually stale and 16 other brands were too old for use. Since we can't make a rich, flavorful beverage from stale coffee, we certainly do not want to spend our hard earned money for that kind.

Just what can we do to protect ourselves against the possibility of getting these stale coffees? The answer is simple. We can buy freshly roasted bean coffee and have it ground when we buy it.

Professor Samuel C. Prescott, after three years scientific study of coffee in the Department of Biology and Public Health at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, announced that coffee in the home retains its flavor longer than ground coffee. It seems that man has not yet surpassed Nature's own seal—the outer brown skin—for protecting the delicate flavor within.

Professor Prescott also found that to get the most possible flavor and goodness from the coffee beans into the beverage, we should grind them just before making our coffee.

Such an ideal is not possible to most of us who have no coffee grinder at home, but fortunately for us some grocers are recognizing that bean coffees are giving the greater satisfaction to their customers. These grocers are selling more and more of their coffees in the bean and grinding them while you wait, so that you can see for yourself just what that little brown seal, which protects the flavor and aroma, was broken and know that your coffee is as fresh as it can possibly come to you.

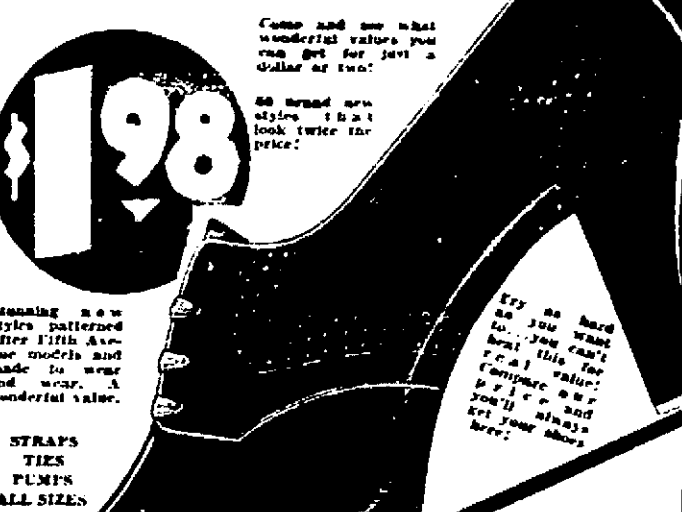

Vitamins in Food

Recognized vitamins in food include the following: Vitamin A, found in milk, butter, fresh cheese, eggs, green vegetables (such as spinach, watercress and turnip greens), yellow vegetables (especially carrots and yellow corn); vitamin B, found in germs of wheat and other cereals, liver, yeast, lettuce and raw peanuts; vitamin C, in lemons, oranges, grapefruit, raw cabbage, sauerkraut, sprouted grain or peas, tomatoes, lettuce, watercress, spinach, turnips and green peppers; vitamin D, in liver and cod-liver oil, egg yolk, snails, sunbake; vitamin E, German oil of wheat or other grains and many vegetable oils, fresh meat and animal fat, fresh lettuce; vitamin F, same as vitamin B; vitamin G (also called B2), in fresh or evaporated milk, liver, green vegetables (even if canned), bananas and yeast.

Hybrid Gives Most Rubber
A hybrid rubber vine which yields twice as much rubber as either of its parents has been produced by the United States Department of Agriculture. It is a cross between two plants, both native to Madagascar, one long grown in Florida as an ornamental plant, and the other naturalized in many places in Mexico and the West Indies.—Scientific American.

Musical Society Held 1st Meeting

The first meeting of the year of the Kingston Musical Society was held at the home of the Misses Martindale at 143 Bond street, Wednesday evening.

Miss Ethel Martindale, who had charge of the program, chose as the subject a study of Mozart and Mendelssohn. This choice of composers was motivated by the fact that we do not hear as much of their compositions as their genius would warrant. Very complete papers were read by Mrs. A. N. Graham and Miss Jane Martindale explaining why the works of these men are not more often heard.

In order that all members might have some chance to participate, numbered cards with pictures were handed to each, from which each one read some incident in the life of the composer.

The Mozart series was first read, interspersed by the following selections:

"Minuet," written by Mozart at the age of five, Mrs. M. Z. Chidester.

A criticism of Mozart's works by Edward Greig, Mrs. A. N. Graham.

Soprano aria from the "Marriage of Figaro," Del Violon-Piccolo, Mrs. Catherine Walker.

"Minuet," from Symphony in E Flat, Mrs. Chidester.

"Duet," from Don Giovanni, the Misses Martindale.

The Mendelssohn cycle was next read with the following explanatory selections:

Violin solo, "On Wings of Song," Miss Eva Clinton.

Why do we not hear more of Mendelssohn's music? answered by C. Rebecke, Miss Jane Martindale.

"Dance of the Clouds," from A Midsummer Night's Dream (composed when 17 years old), Mrs. Chidester.

Aria from Eliza, "If With All Your Hearts," Mrs. Walker.

Three "Songs with Words," Mrs. Lester Decker.

The Stables Wind; (b) Retrospection; (c) Spring Song.

The solos were accompanied by Mrs. Walter Tremper at the piano.

After this very original program refreshments were served. It was announced that transportation would be provided for all for the next meeting which is to be at the home of Miss Frances Muller of Stone Ridge on November 5.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Oct. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. George Hess and little niece enjoyed a trip to Middletown Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb Kniffen and her sister, Mrs. Forrest D. Miller, of Newburgh called on friends in Tilton Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Elmore have returned from spending a few days in Syracuse.

Forty-five members of New Paltz Huguenot Grange visited Bullville Grange last Friday night.

Miss Elizabeth Brown has returned to her home in Ohioville after visiting Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Johnston in Plattekill.

Miss Jane Adee entertained guests at supper on Saturday evening.

Members of Highland Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, from New Paltz, who attended the grand chapter session in New York city this week, were Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. William Schmalkucke and Mrs. Fred Coulter.

Other members accompanied them. At their regular meeting held Tuesday evening, October 10, those from New Paltz who served on the refreshment committee were Mrs. Jessie Johnston, Mrs. Carrie DuBois, Mrs. Jennie DuBois and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Unland.

ADVENTURERS IN FAR NORTH FACE MANY HARDSHIPS

Four Survive Loss of Boat,
Hunger and Disease
Trail Party.

Ottawa.—The story of the grim ordeal of four Arctic Crusaders, and of the shattering of a dream of fortune in the northern seas has been unfolded here in precise official documents which ignore but cannot conceal the drama underlying the events they chronicle.

The story is that of five modern "gentlemen" adventurers trading into Hudson Bay, who faced forth from England in a 55-ton ketch with hopes and spirits as high as those of Jason when he voyaged in the Argosy to seek the Golden Fleece.

Four Survive Wreck.

Death on the high seas was the lot of one while the others barely survived the wrecking of their little vessel on the coast of Baffin land, escaping with only a handful of blankets and spare clothing.

English tradesmen still dream of forming companies of adventurers to trade in and about Hudson Bay and it is story of the so-called Cumberland expedition begins in the old land when a small syndicate purchased the ketch Watta, fitted it with two years' supplies of ammunition, food, traps, rum, lumber, clothing and other equipment and sent it out, with a crew of five to establish posts and trade merchandise for Eskimo furs.

Before the little craft reached Baffin land its crew was reduced to four by the death of the skipper. The mate Victor Dines, who had had some experience with a definite fur trading company in the far north, then took command.

Reaching the barren coast of Baffin land, the party coasted back and forth a day or two, hoping Eskimos would sight them and help them pilot the ketch to safe harbor. No natives appeared, however, and the adventurers finally—in a thick snowstorm—decided to try to thread the straits themselves. The manœuvre of their way through a narrow channel, then their engine failed. The wind dropped and they were driven onto the rocks. "Landlubbers," with one exception, the crew lost their heads and leaped ashore without any effort to salvage any of the ship's contents. The one exception was Edward Barnes, a Newfoundland sailor, who succeeded in saving two blankets and a few articles of clothing.

Eat Decaying Meat.

The castaways plodded through the blinding snowfall in search of shelter. Chance led them to the abandoned trading post of Siniyak. For six weeks, while they toiled ineffectually to build a boat, their only food supplies were some decaying walrus meat which they found in one of the buildings and a few foxes, caught in traps, improvised out of wash boilers.

Finally a band of nomadic Eskimos discovered the party, and guided Victor Dines to Frobisher bay, where he was able to obtain further scanty food supplies. News of their plight was also carried to the mounted police post at Lake Harbor and Corporal McKellar, with a dog-team, made a hazardous trek to Siniyak and brought the men out.

At Lake Harbor they were set up in a native hut, fed, given clothes and a coal stove, but the kindness of their rescuers almost cost them their lives. After the privations to which they had been exposed, the comparative luxuries of their diet and surroundings at the police post proved too much for them and they developed scurvy, which for a time threatened their lives.

The Canadian government steamer Boethic, on its annual voyage of northern inspection, picked up the four at Lake Harbor and took them to Sydney, N. S. There they learned that the Cumberland trading syndicate which they represented, had gone into bankruptcy, but by special arrangement with the British government they were fed and clothed and shipped back to England.

Farmer Loses His Horse, Finds It in Top of Tree

Roselle, N. Y.—A farm draft horse, missing several days after toppling from a 60-foot cliff on a farm near here, has been freed after turning up in the top of a tall basswood tree.

Its owner, Frank Fuller, glanced up into the tree as he passed along the base of the cliff and discovered his gelding in the top branches, neck wedged in the crotch and hind legs spread in a manner that supported the animal's main weight.

Fuller got an ax and felled the tree so that it fell away from the cliff with the horse riding on top. The tree's fall was cushioned somewhat by branches on the under side and the gelding was jounced out, uninjured except for a few bruises on one leg.

Man Arrested When He Asks That He Be Shot

New Orleans.—Max Muller, thirty-three, started a group of policemen when he walked into the Third precinct station and calmly said:

"I want you to shoot me. If you won't do it, give me a gun and let me shoot myself."

Asked why he wanted to kill himself, Muller said: "I'm no good; Hitler's no good. I have nothing to live for."

Police, unable to get him to say any more, charged him with disturbing the peace and locked him up.

Circle No. 2 of the First Presbyterian Church has secured the Musical Brotherhood of Albany to give a concert in the church the first part of November. The Musical Brotherhood are well known in Kingston, having formerly lived here. The date will be announced later.

COLD WEATHER DUE HERE BY OCT. 28

According to records of the Weather Bureau for the past 30 years, the average date for the first freezing weather here is October 28. Thousands of motorists who put off buying an anti-freeze till the last minute will be caught unprepared, when the cold snap strikes. And many of them will pay for their carelessness. From radiators and cracked engine-blocks cost money.

This year put in Eveready Prestone before the freeze. It won't evaporate or boil away. And at the new low price of $2.95 a gallon, it's the most economical anti-freeze you can buy. In addition to giving dependable, all-winter protection against freezing, Eveready Prestone is definitely good for your car. It reduces the rusting-action of water in the cooling-system by 75% to 95%.

*Eveready Prestone is approved by all car manufacturers. Fully guaranteed by National Carbon Co., Inc., New York, N. Y.

Kingston: "Night Flight". The struggle of man against nature is the reason for this picture, a daring, interesting and brilliant story of man's desire to conquer the air and make flying possible in all types of weather and the darkness of night. John Barrymore as the manager of the air-line has but one desire, to fly the mails regardless of the weather. Reports of bad weather over the Andes or the Pampas do not stop him from sending his pilots through just the same, often with resulting tragedy. The thrills are numerous in this talkie, as the pilots break through the darkness, fly blind, or are lost in the storms they must fly late. Some of the finest air scenes ever taken in one picture are to be found in "Night Flight", and although the plot centers around the grim determination of man to better nature with its resulting catastrophes, the excellent photography, cast and general lavishness of the production makes up for the negligible qualities of the story proper. John Barrymore, Lionel Barrymore, Helen Hayes, Myrna Loy, Robert Montgomery, Clark Gable, and William Gargan are members of a giant cast. The direction is by Clarence Brown. Worth seeing.

Orpheum: "Moonlight and Pretzels" and "Unknown Valley". A musical comedy number is offered as the first part of the Orpheum double feature, a singing, dancing show that concerns the rise of a young song writer to the heights of his profession, while the little girl back home trusts and waits for him to send for her that he is in the money. Roger Pryor, Mary Brian, Leo Carrillo, and a host of radio stars and entertainers make up the large cast. A lavish show, with some unusual dance ensembles, some clever comedy, and several good songs. "Unknown Valley" is the latest of the Buck Jones westerns, and it is also one of his best. Danger, mystery, suspense, action, hard riding and fast shooting are all to be found in this show.

Broadway: "Supernatural" and "The Mysterious Rider". Carole Lombard, Randolph Scott, H. B. Warner, Vivienne Osborne and Alan Dinehart go through one of the spookiest performances yet shown on a screen in this story of fake mediums, the spirit world, seances, voices of the dead, the transformation of the spirit of a dead person into the body of a living one, as well as various other cheery bits of action during the course of the production. H. B. Warner has unusual powers in this talkie, and he even goes to the extent of placing the soul of a dead woman executed for murder, into the body of Carole Lombard. Miss Lombard becomes filled with the yen to murder also, and this causes trouble, but it straightens out in the end. "The Mysterious Rider" is one of the best of the current westerns, with a Zane Grey setting and characters, action every minute, and a romantic new western team of Kent Taylor and Lola Andre.

Tomorrow.
Kingston: "The Bowery." That most famous of all American streets, the Bowery, is the setting of this remarkable new picture, a picture that brings together Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper, one of the real movie teams of the present day. Young Mr. Cooper plays the made to order role of "Swipes," a newsboy extraordinary, and his hero is the gangling, sloppy Chuck Connors, big shot of the Bowery. Then there is the smooth and tricky Steve Brodie, playing his cleverness against the blunt forcefulness of Connors. The love and devotion of "Swipes" for the rough and ready Connors is a jewel of character acting, splendidly done by Jackie Cooper. It's a common story of common people on a common street, brilliant in direction and cast, one of the really fine pictures of the year. George Raft, Fay Wray and Pert Kelton are featured in a large cast. The direction is by Raoul Walsh. Superlative entertainment.

Orpheum: Same.
Broadway: "The Solitaire Man." Most of the action in this murder mystery takes place on an air liner flying between Paris and London. The ever fascinating Herbert Marshall, as a crook among a group of other crooks abroad, plays his most engaging role since appearing on an American screen, and a distinguished cast lends ample support. Most of the crooks are well bred gentlemen, who decide to change their mode of existence into honest living. Unexpectedly, after they have decided to go straight, a circumstance forces them to abandon their plans, and Herbert Marshall, the smoothest thief of all, gets his companions out of a trying situation. Clever, amusing and well done, this mystery is grand entertainment. Elizabeth Allen, Lionel Atwill and Mary Boland are members of the cast. "Tarzan the Fearless," the serial thriller with Buster Crabbe, is also being shown as an added feature.

STONE RIDGE.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROSEMARY COONS
HOLLYWOOD—It's not the same thing—this is Dorothy True speaking—working for a fabulous career when you don't have to work at all, and working when your work means bread and butter.

Miss True, a brown-eyed brunette whose looks are striking rather than merely pretty, made the discovery for herself.

Dorothy True, now a movie actress, left Cornell after two years in college because she was impatient to be about a career and because "the 10,000 students made me feel," she says, "lost in a crowd."

She wanted to be a writer, but changed to the stage as her aim. That found little approval at home, where her father, then a wealthy New York business man, frowned darkly on the idea.

Breaking In.
"So I said I'd earn my own way, and I did make enough, as dramatic counselor in a girls' camp, to take a course in stage producing," she relates.

"I didn't know exactly how to go about breaking into the theater. It was Madam Albert, the dramatic coach, who persuaded me to turn to acting and drop the study of producing."

BLUE MOUNTAIN.
Blue Mountain, Oct. 13.—Sunday School Sunday at 9:45. Preaching services at 11 a. m., conducted by the Rev. Edgar DeGraff of New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hommel, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Freiligh, Mrs. William Wolven and son, Edson, Mrs. Anna Wyman, Levi Wolven and Elmer Mower were Friday evening callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schoonmaker.

Mrs. Henry Reynolds spent a day recently at the home of Mrs. Peter Noose.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Myer and grandchildren and son, Hartford, also the Misses Cecelia and Catherine Healey of Kingston, spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Freiligh.

Mrs. Anna Myer of Schenectady is visiting her granddaughter, Mrs. Harry Freiligh.

Ishmael Rose and family of Shady spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schoonmaker.

Mrs. Harry Freiligh and Mrs. Anna Myer called on Mrs. Anna Lamoureux, also Mrs. Newton Mower of Saxton Tuesday afternoon.

Ruth Schoonmaker of Saugerties and Mr. and Mrs. F. Schoonmaker and son, Robert, spent Sunday with Mrs. Claude Hommel.

Miss Feldman of Brooklyn, who has been enjoying a vacation at the Blue Mountain Homestead, has returned home.

Local members of the 4-H Club attended the 4-H meeting in Katsbaan Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hommel spent Monday evening in Saugerties.

METTACAHONTS.
Mettacahonts, Oct. 13.—There will be served in the Hall Wednesday evening, October 18, a hot chicken supper consisting of chicken and gravy, mashed potatoes, dressing, peas, cabbage salad, pickles, cheese, bread, butter, jello, cake and coffee. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock and until all are served.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kelder entertained relatives Sunday.

"And then I decided for myself that the way to learn acting was to act. I finally got 'walk-on' assignments, such as making on the stage—and I thought I was really working hard for my money."

"But after father lost his money in the crash, I realized that it was different. Subconsciously or otherwise, I had been leaning on the support it gave me to know that at home there was financial security. I think I really began to work after that realization that I had to work."

Lost No Longer.
This is Miss True's second venture in Hollywood. Her first was ended for the same reason that caused her to quit Cornell—that feeling of being lost in a crowd. She was under contract to a large studio where there seemingly were too many girls for one more to get a chance.

Here once more, she is no longer "lost in a crowd." She is the only girl under regular contract to Columbia, a smaller studio.

"I was afraid," she says, "that I might have the same experience again, and be 'the forgotten woman.' But at least, while I was waiting to start work, I could come in and talk things over with the executives, and there wasn't that terrible feeling that no one knew I was on the lot."

Myer called on Mrs. Anna Lamoureux, also Mrs. Newton Mower of Saxton Tuesday afternoon.

Ruth Schoonmaker of Saugerties and Mr. and Mrs. F. Schoonmaker and son, Robert, spent Sunday with Mrs. Claude Hommel.

Miss Feldman of Brooklyn, who has been enjoying a vacation at the Blue Mountain Homestead, has returned home.

Local members of the 4-H Club attended the 4-H meeting in Katsbaan Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hommel spent Monday evening in Saugerties.

PORT EWEN.
Port Ewen, Oct. 13.—The 42nd annual convention of the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union will be held in New Paltz Saturday, October 14. There will be an afternoon and evening session with good speakers and conferences. A number of local Endeavorers are planning to go.

The regular weekly meeting of Boy Scouts will be held in the Reformed Church house this evening.

HI-Y HAD RECEPTION FOR THORNE-LOOMIS TRAVELERS.

Wednesday evening the Kingston Boys' Hi-Y Club held a reception for the former members of Hi-Y who had just returned from an extensive industrial tour of the eastern United States. The program began with a supper, prepared by the members of the Y. M. C. A. Ladies' Auxiliary and served by a committee of Hi-Y girls. The meal was followed by some pep singing and the necessary Hi-Y business. President Harold Baltz appointed the following committee chairman to serve for this year: Program, Lawrence Van Etten; social, Burt MacFadden; music, Roger Eastman. Chairman for the Deputation and Service committees, he announced, would be appointed at a later date.

All of the club's guests, Francis Phillips, Charles Pfrommer, Hart Snyder, Ralph Woolsey, Van Barrow and Kimbol Pirie, were called upon to speak about their trip. So interesting and entertaining were their accounts of their travels, industries visited, and other experiences, that the meeting ran a half hour past the regular time for adjournment and even then the Hi-Y boys had questions to ask. The trip, one of six weeks' duration in which the boys traveled nearly 6,000 miles and visited many of the country's leading industries, proved to be one of tremendous educational value, and the speakers recommended it to any of the boys who might have the opportunity to do next season.

The Athenian oath was repeated at a mass meeting at Yonkers, N. Y., following the adjournment of the convention.

Friday the thirteenth is with us once more. We wish they would hurry with that 15 month calendar. Every thirteen days will be a Friday then. Thirteen is only thirteen a year and it is practically ruin the human race to have that most of its life spent on Friday.

Boys are waiting until after Halloween before starting to wear the hats which they will have more of in the month after Christmas.

Man: Quick, Doc, my wife's fainting.
Doc: What's the trouble?
Man: She's fainted for the new hat and the bill at the same time, and I don't say a word.

It may be possible to write a semi-annual letter, but it would not be satisfying to the recipient.

I'd rather be a has-been than a might-have-been by far. For a might-have-been has never been. But the has-been was an are.

Friendship that is merely an intermittent power of fervor, is not real friendship. Nor wind, nor tide, nor prosperity, nor adversity, nor joy, nor sorrow, nor any material consideration sways or alters genuine friendship, than which there is nothing nobler on earth.

Jobell: I've no use for that fellow Robert Cunningham.
Dorothy: Oh, what's the matter with him?
Jobell: He's the sort of chap that puts you on the back before your face and hits you in the eye behind your back.

Real statesmen are men who can solve the grave problems that wouldn't exist if there were no statesmen.

Woman: Before we were married you told me I would never want for anything.
Her Husband: That shows how little I knew of you then.

Removing the teeth will cure some things, including the foolish belief that it will cure everything.

Woman: Nora, did you sweep behind that door?
The Maid: Yes mum. I sweep everything behind that door.

Henry Hardup of Brushville claims Friday the thirteenth would have to be a humdinger to be any unluckier than any other day as far as he is concerned.

Girl: I can never be yours. I will return your presents.
Her Sweetie: All right, but who's going to return those cigars I bought your father and the dimes I gave your little brother?

Obnoxious Onnie opines: "A bay recovering from a heartache, is like the intoxicated person nursing a headache, he swears never again till the next time."

Judge: You say that your husband doesn't buy you any clothes?
Woman: No, Judge. If my tongue were coated it would have to be at my own expense.

Most men confide their business troubles to their wives, especially when the latter want to buy something.

Tramp: Mister, give me a quarter for a meal. I'm hungrier than a bear.
Rich Dyspeptic: I'll give you $5.00 for your appetite, my man.

Why didn't we think, during the green watermelon season, to suggest that the melon-colic days had come?

Jasper: Tommy Heitman gets along with his wife very well.
Casper: Why shouldn't he? His dad owns a millinery store.

SLUMP IN DOLLAR DRIVES YANKS FROM SOUTH SEAS.
Papeete, Tahiti (AP)—Fall of the United States dollar in terms of the French franc has almost depopulated the American section of this French South Sea colony.
Every northbound steamer carries a fresh contingent bound for shores where the dollar will buy something near its value.
Converted into francs, sums that previously constituted a generous income have shrunk to a mere pittance.
During the post-war years many Americans and Britishers came to the French Islands of Oceania, a goodly proportion being pensioners. Those dependent on incomes in English or Australian pounds were the first to leave. The wholesale departure of Americans now has reduced the white population to a mere handful, except for the French.

YOUTHS OUST AGED EXPERTS IN BLACKSHIRT OFFICES.
Rome (AP)—Archille Starace, secretary of the Fascist party, has ordered department chiefs to get rid of old employees who, by expert knowledge, relieve their bosses of most of the worries of office.
In their places are to be hired youths whose main qualification will be willingness to learn.
"It matters not if this policy adds to the duties or risks of the chief," says Starace's order sheet. "One of the prime aims of the Fascist revolution is to give youth a chance."
Another order abolishes the term "employee" in party offices and substitutes "attache."

ASSEMBLYMAN CONWAY TO ADDRESS CARD PARTY.
Last year the Republican Women's Educational Club of Ulster county, like all similar clubs in New York state, celebrated its annual day by holding what was called "Hoover Day," and in addition to the card party which is a regular part of the day's celebration, Assemblyman Conway will briefly address the ladies. These parties are held in Kingston and other localities in Ulster county. The local affair will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel in the city on Saturday, October 14. Mrs. A. DuBois Rose, the county chairman, may be telephoned 341-R for tickets.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN'S CLUB CARD PARTY TOMORROW.
Throughout the state, Republican Women's Educational Clubs will hold card parties tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The club members of Highland, Ellenville and Saugerties will meet at the Governor Clinton Hotel in this city, at which time Assemblyman Conway will be the guest of honor. In other communities in the county the clubs will hold their card parties in their respective towns.

COUNTERFEITERS GRATEFUL FOR SWISS MINISTRY'S TIP.
Berne, Switzerland (AP)—The Swiss Ministry of Finance recently warned the public against spurious franc pieces believed to come from Italy, saying they could be detected by a defect in the letter "S" of the word "Dominus" on the edge of the coin.
A few days later the ministry received a letter from Genoa saying: "Thanks to your kind help, our next issue will be impeccable."

Swedish "Dry" Society Grows.
Stockholm (AP)—The Swedish temperance movement, embracing six temperance societies, six labor unions, four leagues of youths and seven cooperating organizations, reports an increase of 5,500 in enrollment within a year and claims 230,000 adult members.

STATE OF NEW YORK SUPREME COURT, JUSTICE JOHN B. STERLETT, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN B. STERLETT, Defendant.
In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly granted in the above entitled case and entered in the Ulster County Clerk's office on the 10th day of October, 1932, I, JOHN B. STERLETT, the undersigned Referee, in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the front door of the County House, in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster, N. Y., on the 1st day of November, 1932, at 12:00 o'clock, noon, the premises described in said judgment, as follows, viz: ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York, on the Southern side of Flatbush Avenue, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point on the Southern side of Flatbush Avenue which point or place of beginning is three hundred feet from the corner formed by the intersection of the Eastern line of Flatbush Avenue and the Southern line of Flatbush Avenue and thence Southwesterly parallel with Flatbush Avenue forty feet hence, Northwestwesterly to the point and place of beginning, being Southwesterly at right angles to the line of Flatbush Avenue one hundred feet, thence Southwesterly parallel with Flatbush Avenue forty feet hence, Northwestwesterly to the point and place of beginning. Dated at the City of Kingston, N. Y., this 5th day of October, 1932.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—Visions of a re-seized effort to resurrect the Black 34-hour week bill in the coming session of congress loom as the result of labor's open declaration that hours under the NRA are unsatisfactory.

WILLIAM GREEN

Washington observers regard it as fairly certain that William Green's opening statement to the 47-third annual convention of the American Federation of Labor that unemployment will not be eliminated until a 30-hour work week is established forecasts such a move.

The Black bill, authored by Senator Black of Alabama, already has passed the senate. Approval of the measure was given by that body by a vote of 50 to 33 early in April.

In the house, Congress of Massachusetts, chairman of the labor committee, offered a bill of his own as a substitute for that of Black's. It was while this bill was before the house's labor committee that Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, made her first appearance before a congressional body.

On The Shelf

MISS PERKINS proposed changes in the bill which immediately brought protests from labor leaders.

Matthew Wolf, vice president of the American Federation, told the same committee that the labor secretary's plan "would make sort of American industrial workers" and hinted of an uprising of wage earners.

The result of the whole affair was that the Congress substitute bill was shelved. In congressional parlance it was "put on the calendar" and there it remains.

What actually halted legislation was the fact President Roosevelt had his own plan for dealing with the situation. What is known now as the NRA was in its formative stage. The "brain trust" had worked out for Mr. Roosevelt the general outline of the present set-up weeks before.

The administration was eager to try out its own plan.

Labor's Eyes Alert

GREEN or his associates have set in on all of the codes drawn under the recovery act and have had much to say about the labor provisions.

Therefore, his observation is regarded as significant.

"In our mature judgment, our honest judgment," he says, "the hours in many of these codes are so high that they will not absorb a single worker. Three million have been taken back to work, but 11 million are still unemployed."

While Green counsels patience with the "new deal," he insists hours be reduced sufficiently to increase employment.

One method might be a drastic rewriting of the codes now in effect. The other might be for congress itself to act.

Playing Games

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH
Games have a great value outside of the entertainment which they afford for the child who plays games with the self-control which sportsmanship demands is getting a preparation for life which will always stand him in good stead.

But sportsmanship cannot be learned where children are allowed to fight and hurl accusations of cheating and lying at one another. If they cannot play merrily and peacefully they cannot be allowed to play at all, for the very essence of a game is recreation and fun, and when it takes on the aspect of a fight it has ceased to fulfill its purpose.

To tell children that they must not play a game to win is absurd. Unless one plays a game to win, one is letting down one's opponent and possibly one's partner. The mistake lies in the ideal of winning at any cost.

There are rules of etiquette in games which children must realize no gentleman or lady can break. For example, never to use such epithets as "cheat" or "liar" to abide by the umpire's or referee's decision; and that, while there is no obligation to play a game, having once begun, one goes through with it, no matter how unpleasant or difficult it may be. Children who break these rules should be punished by being barred from playing.

To allow children to play games where the rules are abrogated and cheating allowed, may produce unfortunate results, for it breaks down the respect for rules as things which are unalterable.

If, in spite of everything the fighting and arguments on the playground continue, it is a good idea to forbid games until the players can control themselves.

Grade School Girls Held an Outing

The grade school girl reserves of the Y. W. C. A. enjoyed a gypsy party on Columbus Day which proved to be a most delightful and picturesque affair.

A hundred and thirty-five girls left the association building at 10 o'clock all clad in gay gypsy costumes and proceeded to Walter's woods where they were the guests of Miss Granger Stewart.

Using a camp-fire ceremonial, the girls lighted their huge fire, each club president bringing her faggot to add to the fuel. Following the picnic lunch, the girls enjoyed games and before leaving buried a treasure which will be unearthed next fall when they again go on their patter.

The girls were chaperoned by Miss Lillian Herdman, girl reserve secretary, and the following advisors: Miss Katherine Millard, Miss Mildred Healy, Miss Florence Baltz, Mrs. Sherwood Lasher, Miss Granger Stewart, Miss M. Hoytston, Miss Dorothy Brooks.

The Live Yew Club of high school freshmen also enjoyed a hike and picnic under the direction of Mrs. Mortimer Downer.

Dentist Frightens Robbers With Drill

CHICAGO.—Dr. F. D. La Pierre, dentist, has discovered a new weapon against crime.
Edward Ellison, twenty-one, and Edward Haskin, twenty-two, police say in reporting their confession, went to the dentist's office to rob it. Both complained of toothaches. Doctor La Pierre went to work on C. L. Haskin with the drill. Kaskin's biggest worry became real.
The dentist said that since the pain was so great Haskin ought to have gas. But while he was getting the apparatus ready Ellison and Kaskin's last $1. After police caught them, they said they got scared of the drill.

DEAD FOR AN HOUR, YOUTH DECLARES

Knew When He Died and When Life Returned.

New York.—"I was dead for an hour. I know it. I was in another world for that hour. They tried to tell me that I was just unconscious. But I know that I was dead."
Dark eyes burning in a painfully thin, white face, Irving Bernstein, a twenty-one-year-old bookkeeper, lay on his bed in Bronx hospital and painted his story.
He didn't know, however, that at midnight, in his home on Forest avenue, shivah was kept. He did not know that his sister, Becky, his patriarchal father, Benjamin, took their shoes off and sat in a circle on the floor around the oak dining table, and wept and moaned the prayer for the dead.
"I knew I was dead," he said to a reporter in a panting voice. "I couldn't breathe, my heart stopped. I couldn't think—and yet I could think. I was dead."
"And I know it by the clock there, too. At 10:30, when I came in here, I saw it. Then my eyes got dim, I began to sink, and everything stopped. It was 12 o'clock when I looked at the clock again."
"How did you feel during that hour?"
"I didn't feel anything. That's the funny part of it—I was dead, and I knew it during that hour. I was unconscious—and yet I could think."
A friend of Irving's family, Dr. Herman Fischmann, was there at the end—the end which wasn't really the end.
"Irving died, all right, I saw it," he said. "We got him here to the hospital about 10:30 in a moribund state. At 11 o'clock the hospital doctor called the family in and told them to say good-by. They did."
"They went outside again. Irving went into a coma. His pulse stopped altogether. Cheyne stokes breathing—you know, that stertorous gulp only once in a while—set in. That always marks the end."
"The other symptoms came, too—the kind you can't print in a newspaper. Then he shivered up before my eyes, and died. Just about that time they cut deep into the wrist and gave a glucose injection."
Irving, suffering from a rare blood disease, is not altogether out of danger.

Mother Collie Digs Up Her Entombed Offspring

San Rafael, Calif.—A mother collie's instinct saved one of her puppies from being buried alive.
Kate, the collie, gave birth to six offspring. Elmer Hansen, her owner, decided that three were enough and drowned the rest. Then he noticed that one of the remaining puppies was "cold and stiff," so he put it in a box with the drowned animals. He buried them in his back yard.
Hours later Kate was seen scratching and whining above the grave. Frantically she tore at the dirt, seeking to remove it.
Finally, Hansen said, she reached the sack and shook it back and forth. He decided to investigate. Inside the sack he found the "cold and stiff" puppy revived.
Kate grabbed the rescued animal, carried it to her box, and bathed it lovingly.

Jail Sentence Reward for Husband's Chivalry

Rockville, Conn.—All the time Joseph Frywienka thought he was saving his wife from serving a 20-day sentence he was talking himself into a similar term.
Joseph was a spectator in court when his wife was sentenced for selling liquor. Overcome by chivalry, he offered to serve her time.
"Didn't you know your wife was selling liquor?" the court asked.
"Sure," Joseph promptly replied. "I help her make it."
"Then I sentence you both to 20 days in jail," the court came back.

Kansas Man Foils Thief but It Costs Him Tooth

Topeka, Kan.—Earl Fry has discovered a new way to cope with bandits but it costs a tooth every time. Recently he and a girl companion were held up. When the bandit attempted to attack the girl Fry gave battle. He closed his teeth on the bandit's thumb in the scuffle and almost severed the member. The bandit jerked away quickly and pulled Fry's tooth. The bandit escaped.

Choral Club Will Rehearse Tonight

The Schenectady Choral Club will hold a rehearsal at the Y. W. C. A. this evening at 7 o'clock, in preparation for the club's first appearance of the season. The young women will sing two songs at the Y. W. C. A. membership rally which will be in the form of a "Blue Triangle Bazaar" and will be held at the association on Friday, October 20.
Former members are urged to attend this rehearsal and join with the girls on this occasion.
At the last meeting of the club, it was voted to reduce the dues for this season as there will be no expense for new music, the club having acquired an excellent library during its ten years of work. All young women interested in music are cordially invited to join the club. Miss Virginia Lee Kamp will again act as director, in which capacity she so ably served ever since its organization.

FRIENDLY INDIANS PLAN HIKE FOR SATURDAY

All of the villages of the Mohican Tribe of Friendly Indians at the Y. M. C. A. will combine Saturday morning to go on a hike, one of the activities so much enjoyed by the youngsters, nine to 12 years of age. The hikers will set out from the Y. M. C. A. at 11 o'clock and all of the tribesmen are requested to bring their lunches with them when they come to the "Y" Saturday morning.
All "Y" members between the ages of nine and 12 will be welcomed on the hike regardless of whether or not they have yet joined the Friendly Indian Tribe. The tribe has increased so in numbers that it has seemed best to divide it into villages.
At present there are three villages and others may be added later. Chieftains at the head of the present villages are: William Grothkopf, Donald VanDeusen and John Rowland. Tribal officers to govern the affairs of the whole tribe will probably be elected this Saturday.
In case of rain this Saturday, the hike will be postponed until October 21.

AL SMITH GETS DEGREE FROM STATE UNIVERSITY.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 13 (A).—Eugene Smith, former Governor of New York, received an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at the annual convocation of the University of the State of New York last night.

Dr. George D. Strayer, Teachers' College, Columbia University, said today that the state may "reasonably be expected to maintain and increase its support for the public school system."
Mr. Smith, who received an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at the annual convocation of the University of the State of New York last night, urged that education be the last branch of the state government to feel the economy axe.
"We can build roads any time and we can glorify the canals whenever we want to, but where you lose one year in public education it can never be regained," he declared.

The Daily Cross Word Puzzle

Howe About:

A Leader's Utopia
The Final Average
Leading a Normal Life
By ED HOWE

NO NEWSPAPER manager can possibly keep nonpareil out of his columns, but he should be careful to carry along every day a suggestion of the old conservative common sense necessary in properly distinguishing right from wrong. Most newspapers do this with considerable faithfulness in spite of the increasing demand for sensationalism. Some of them call it humor, but the common sense is suggested, and may be worked out by those who care for it.

As an example of this I note a recent syndicated article by Westbrook Pegler, and appearing in a good many first rate papers. In introducing Mr. Pegler the paper I see regularly says: "Pegler Gives a Humorous Slant on the New Deal."

What is called a humorous slant is actually the most important piece of wisdom I have seen printed in many months. Mr. Pegler says:

"The trouble with the Russian Soviet system has been that it sought to compel the citizens to work, sometimes resorting to enforced labor, whereas under the American plan enforced leading will be held over the heads of the commoners as a threat to work hogs who endanger the success of the new deal by indulging a selfish passion for toil."

Mr. Pegler works out the idea to the extent of a column, which is not too much; many others would have made it into a book, and thus buried the good idea.

I cast my vote for a wreath to Westbrook Pegler for writing the most illuminating piece of American wisdom in 1933; possibly for all time.

In being careful I'm rather an enthusiast; when in such mood, and receive an important paper or letter, I put it away so carefully I can't find it later. . . . Altogether my average in exercising care is low, although I believe such virtue one of the first a human being (constantly in danger) should exercise. . . . The time to lock the stable door, of course, is when the thought of thieves first occurs to you, but so many delay that a warning maxim was written centuries ago. The wisdom conveyed by the maxim is so important that all careless men have been familiar with and frequently repeated it hundreds of years without it doing them any good. That is what discourages me.

A young man went to a doctor for advice, and the doctor asked: "Have you been leading a normal life?" The young man replied that he had. "Well," continued the doctor, "you must cut out liquor and women for at least six months." . . . This may be a good joke—I confess to a smile myself—but it displays a fault common to most American jokes, in that it gives the impression that all normal men drink too much intoxicating liquor. Not one in twenty of them do. How many confirmed drunkards do you know? I have asked myself the question. My reply is, I do not know to exceed three or four, and these so widely scattered they annoy me rarely. . . . In thinking over that part of the joke referring to women, I become more serious, but risk no figures.

A new word lately becoming popular is moron. (Meaning a man suffering from arrested mental development.) It is rather a better word than fool, which seems to mean a man who is not a full shilling; who never had any sense, and never will have any. But a moron means one born with sufficient and average intelligence, and, after reaching twenty-five or thirty, becomes shiftless as to his mind, and quits developing it.

I estimate there are hundreds of morons to one fool; the number of complete fools is actually not great; there seems little doubt that the mind may be developed as naturally and easily as the muscles, by proper exercise; but as we grow older our natural disposition is to become flabby in flesh and mind. Millions are today supporting doctrines as foolish as perpetual motion. (Inflation, as an example; it is the same thing.)

All such are suffering from arrested mental development; they do not take a proper daily dozen for their heads. Men die unnecessarily every day because of arrested physical development, and morons develop in the same way: they become poorer thinkers because they do not fairly and properly exercise their minds, and shuffle shiftlessly along to the bread line or poor house when they might have easier lived fairly respectable and successful lives, and finally achieved a very good obituary in the local papers.

After young men become educated in engineering they begin clamoring for jobs. This clamoring has already resulted in the present staggering appropriations for unnecessary and foolish dams, reservoirs, lakes, river improvement, etc.

The more young men act like cautious old men, the better they will get along.

Usually an American will cheerfully attend a reform convention, and make and listen to flowery and foolish speeches; but he is very slow in shouldering a musket and attending the secret meeting of a vigilance committee that means business.

Italian Princess Leaves Seclusion

With Sisters Married. Maria Takes Up Duties Of Royalty

BY ANDRUE BERING
Rome (AP)—Princess Maria, sister and youngest daughter of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena, will leave her closely guarded seclusion this winter to represent the royal family at numerous international and charity affairs.

There has been considerable speculation through the departure of the eldest sister, Princess Mafalda, for Germany. Mafalda, the wife of Prince Philip of Hesse, was considered a sister who had made a provincial government.

Last In Home Nest

Maria's other sister, Yolanda, wife of Count Carlo di Savoia, and Queen Elena, the first in line of Rome, the first in line of the second in line. Her brother, Umberto, is in charge of the army corps area at Naples.

These numerous demands will be made on her time that previously were addressed to others.

The young princess, who will be 19 the day after Christmas, will thus begin practicing for being in the public eye.

Many Betrothal Rumors.
Italians hope that some day she will be a queen in her own right.

PRINCESS MARIA OF ITALY

Several young princesses have been mentioned at various times as possible claimants for her hand. They include:

Archduke Otto, pretender to the throne of Hungary and Austria.

Infante Juan Carlos, son of ex-King Alfonso of Spain, and heir-pretender to the Spanish throne.
Crown-Prince Farouk of Egypt.
One of the British princes, George or Henry.

At present, however, none of these reports is given any confirmation in royal circles.

Princess Maria probably will retain this coming winter, since she has hitherto been kept strictly at home. The Italian girl of good family does not go out until she is married, and Maria is no exception.

Outside Vista Barred

Unlike other Italian girls, she is not even permitted to visit her friends at their homes. They may come to see her, but she may not go to see them.

Dark-eyed Maria seldom has been seen in public, except at the opera, or a concert, when her mother or sister Mafalda accompanied her. She likes music.

She has learned to dance, but does not dance outside the royal palace and royal villa. She participates discreetly in sports: she swims and skis.

Is Mother's Helper

She is a loyal assistant to her mother in that worthy lady's unceasing charity work.

She has had a wide education under private tutors and speaks excellent English.

40 Hours Devotion At St. Peter's Church

The Forty Hours Devotion will open at St. Peter's Church on Sunday, October 15. A solemn high Mass at 10:30 a. m. and procession of the children will mark the opening service. The observance of this Eucharistic Feast will continue until Tuesday evening. Three Masses will be celebrated on Monday and Tuesday mornings at 6, 7 and 8:30 o'clock respectively, and children of the parochial school, and members of the parish societies will participate in the prayer hours during the day. The church will be open for private visitation throughout the three days. On Sunday and Monday evenings there will be special services with sermons by the Rev. Hugo A. Hahn, C. S. R., and benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament. The solemn closing will take place on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. A notable feature of the closing devotion is the procession of all the men of the parish. Their representation in past years has been most edifying to observers and a splendid tribute to their faith and zeal. This year, it is hoped, will be no exception, for equally large numbers of both married and single men are expected to be present. The singing of the "Te Deum" will terminate the service.

"Memorial to Valor of Soldiers of the South"

The United States half dollar bearing the picture of Grant and Lee, with the inscription, "Stone Mountain" on the face, and on the reverse, "Memorial to the Valor of the Soldiers of the South," year 1925, is a commemorative coin. Issued in 1925 by the United States mint at the request of Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial association. This organization, founded in 1916, was sponsored by the Daughters of the Confederacy, to perpetuate and honor the memory of the soldiers of the Confederacy, and Robert E. Lee, in particular. Money for the memorial was raised by the Daughters, largely in the South. One unofficial statement says that 2,314,700 pieces were minted, and sold for $1.00 each. The association had asked for 15,000,000.

Stone Mountain is 16 miles from Atlanta, Ga. This particular memorial depicts Grant and Lee on horseback, and is carved on the side of the mountain. The original sculptor was Gutzon Borglum, who had trouble with some of the association, and was discharged. His plan was carried out by Augustus Lukeman, who completed it in 1923, in spite of the opposition of some of the northern veterans. It was unveiled and dedicated April 9, 1923, on the sixty-third anniversary of the surrender of Lee to Grant. Robert E. Lee, IV, great grandson of the general, pulled the cord that released the curtain.

Every Word We Know Is Stored in Small Space

Science is revealing many wonderful things about the human brain. It long has been known that different parts of the brain perform different functions, but science is relating the parts and the functions, so that the exact location of an impairment may be determined before an operation. A small section of the brain may be a storehouse for a specific thing. A professor of Latin and Greek suffered a blow on the head. He remembered everything else, but could remember nothing about Latin and Greek. This and many other strange experiences from head injuries are related by a writer in Popular Science Monthly. One injury left the victim with perfect sight, but printed words went nothing. Another, after a similar experience, had perfect hearing, but spoken words had lost their meaning. "In one small patch of gray matter, hardly larger than a nickel," says this authority, "is stored every word we know."

Malcolm Sparkman and Tolbert Holding of Dunell, Fla., claim to be the only three brothers in the southeast who are active Eagle scouts.

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, Oct. 13.—The High Falls Public School was closed Thursday, October 12, as it was Columbus Day. The school will also be closed on the 19th and 20th of October as the teachers will attend the conference in Troy.

The weather for some time now has been ideal, with very little frost. The Smith brothers, Granville, Peter and Grover, are getting in wood for Kruger on shares. They already have in quite a supply.

Grover Smith has purchased a second hand car of George Hendricks.

Mrs. Mary Pine of Cottekill recently visited Mrs. Preston Church. Mrs. Ed Davis was a caller at Locust Hurst cottage Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Beach spent a few days this week with relatives in Stone Ridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor G. Parcell and son, Donald, of The Clove, called in this place Monday.

Mr. Quick was employed at Mohonk Lake getting in wood, but has now secured a job on the road.

Mrs. J. M. Barnhart, who has been visiting her sister, Miss Jessie Snyder, returned to her home in Bloomington Monday.

Mrs. Preston Church and Mrs. Mary Delamater attended the service at The Clove Chapel Sunday evening. It was a good service and there were quite a few present.

John H. Ayers called at the Rodman home in Port Ewen Sunday afternoon. James Rodman, who suddenly met his death, was the husband of Mr. Ayers' niece, who was formerly Marie Ayers.

Carolyn Countryman, little daughter of David Countryman, who is making her home with her grandmother, Mrs. V. Christians, has been quite ill, but all are glad to hear it is well on the road to recovery.

Mrs. Ed Davis was a recent visitor at the home of Mrs. James Van DeMark.

The pastor of the Reformed Church, the Rev. Clarence Howard, has been making a number of pastoral calls among his congregation.

The road from the village up to The Clove is being repaired and made wider, which will be a great improvement.

Mrs. Ames Stokes and little daughter, Marie, called on Miss Cynthia Van Wageningen one morning this week.

Mrs. Edna Ayers took supper at the home of Miss Mary C. Van Wagening Sunday evening, returning home with her uncle, John H. Ayers, in the evening. Mr. Ayers attended service at the chapel.

Several from this place are picking apples in New Paltz.

Miss Emily Davis and girl friend of East Orange, N. J., who spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Gause Beach, motored to High Falls cemetery Sunday morning. Miss Davis stopped off for a minute at Locust Hurst cottage to see her former school teacher, Miss Mary C. Van Wageningen. These calls from time to time from former pupils bring back pleasant memories to Miss Van Wageningen.

HURLEY.
Hurley, Oct. 13.—Mrs. M. S. Wyckoff is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Abram Elmendorf.

A musical entertainment will be given in the Sunday School rooms Friday evening, October 20, for the benefit of the Sunday School. There will be no admission fee. A free cream and cake will be on sale at the close of the entertainment.

The Home Bureau met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Abram Elmendorf. Plans were made for the card party to be held at the Beauty home.

An ear of corn with three cobs grown under the same shock was exhibited by former sheriff George S. Alexander by Greenville, N.Y.

ACCORD

Accord, Oct. 13.—Miss Ruth Friedman, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis in the Kingston Hospital, is making satisfactory recovery.

Patron Grange at Accord will hold an evening at games at Gross E. Schoonmaker's Thursday, October 19.

Elmer Hendrickson is painting the buildings on the M. E. Church property.

Edward Davenport returned home the first of the week from a hunting trip to Canada.

A minstrel will be presented by the young people of Stone Ridge in the Accord Odd Fellows Hall, Friday evening, October 20, at 8:15 o'clock. This entertainment was a great success in Stone Ridge. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the Accord M. E. Church. Refreshments will be on sale after the entertainment.

Chorus M. E. Meetings.
There will be a regular meeting of the Junior and Intermediate Leagues of Clinton Avenue M. E. Church at the church Thursday afternoon, October 19, starting at 3:45 o'clock.

The armament situation is clear enough. The nations won't stop toting guns because they distrust each other, and they distrust each other because they're all toting guns.

Sixteenth Century Map of the Pacific.

More than 2,000 years ago, Ptolemy, an Egyptian geographer, was credited with making the first map, outlining the world along the Nile river. What would he think today if he walked into an automobile service station, railway station, tourist bureau, or airplane office and could take his pick of maps that would show him the best route to almost anywhere in the world?

Probably the greatest spur in the map-making industry has been made in the last few centuries, but in the great museums of the world there are many maps and charts that were crude but helpful forerunners of the efficient work of cartographers today.

Most famous of all early maps are those in the atlas or "Geography" of Claudius Ptolemy, an eight-volume work dating from about 150 A. D.

Though lost to the world of learning through the Dark Ages, Ptolemy's books were later rediscovered. One of the oldest manuscript copies was found at Mount Athos, and a reproduction made in 1807 is on display in the Library of Congress at Washington, D. C. Six of his eight books consist of tables of latitude and longitude for about 5,000 places. In his remaining books Ptolemy discusses the stars, mathematical problems of geography, the length of days, the sun's course, and differences in time at different places.

With his books are maps of 26 countries and one map of the world. In his colossal task Ptolemy used all geographic lore that had accumulated to his time. Though crude and full of mistakes, it was the greatest step ever made in presenting world geography to scientific form.

His maps show how traders and adventurers had pushed the rim of the known world as far north as the Shetlands and given size and shape to the British Isles. More of the Nile was shown and part of Africa below the equator. The Indian ocean got a new and more accurate mapping, based, no doubt, on notes brought by silk traders from the Far East.

Road Maps for Crusaders.
To meet the needs of the Crusaders, flocking down the highways of Europe and into Asia Minor, there developed a sort of pictorial road map. A good example in the British museum is a copy of a drawing by a St. Albans monk, Matthew Paris. Its crude pictures show the towns along the route from London to Jerusalem. The "map" of Palestine also shows the sea, with ships carrying crowds of people.

China, Persia, Egypt, all had their part in early map science; and the Arabs undoubtedly borrowed from Ptolemy. Yet it was the Arabs who, when Christian learning lagged in the eighth and ninth centuries, made the most important geographic advances.

Printing, which, like the compass, probably came to Europe from the East, had the same galvanic effect on map making as on some other arts. Ptolemy's "Geography," now translated, became so popular that it was to go through more than fifty editions. Columbus used it; despite its errors, or thanks to them, he accidentally found the New world, which discovery ultimately set all civilization to revising its maps.

For decades after the voyages of Columbus, Europe seethed with excitement and new ideas. When Charles V received letters from Cortez describing the splendors of Montezuma's court, with its golden dishes as big as carriage wheels, all Spain was agitated. When news broke that Pizarro had caught an Inca king and held him for ransom of a roomful of gold, equal to $15,000,000, excitement was almost unendurable. All nations that could build or borrow boats put to sea, and map making flourished.

As the world's true pattern took form, medieval maps with unexplored areas decorated by sea serpents, mermaids, wrecked galleons, and chubby angel faces blowing the winds, began to fade from use.

Mercator's Great Work.
Gerhard Kremer, known by his Latinized name of Mercator, was among the first to break with these old traditions. Famous mathematician and

Black Rat Carrier of Plague
The black rat is the carrier and propagating agent of bubonic plague. It was this plague which under the name of the "Black Death" ravaged Europe throughout the Middle Ages and reached its climax in that country with the Great Plague of London in 1665.

In Suit Brought To Recover For Losses To Child—Two Cases Announced as Settled.

A verdict of no cause of action was returned Thursday afternoon by the jury which heard the evidence in the action brought by Rose M. Rodigan, by guardian, against George Jabritz and Julia Jabritz. The action was brought to recover for injuries to the child, then about one year old, suffered when a car driven by Mrs. Jabritz left the road on April 25, 1929, in the town of New Paltz and went down a bank. Plaintiff sought to recover for injuries suffered by the child which included a fractured skull.

The defendant claimed that her car struck a rut and a stone in the road and that Mrs. Morgan, the grandmother of the child who was holding her, began to scream and threw the baby from the car. After that Mrs. Jabritz claims a blanket became entangled with her brake and also that operation of the car was interfered with by Mrs. Morgan and as a result the car went over a bank and down into a field some distance before it was stopped.

Mrs. Morgan denied that she threw the baby from the car and said that the child was thrown from her lap when the car hit the bank before going off the road, that apparently Mrs. Jabritz, who had possessed a driver's license but a week, became confused and stepped on the gas instead of the brake and that later she too was thrown from the car and injured. Mrs. Jabritz testified she had been driving with a permit for several months prior to the accident but had a license at the time of the accident.

Peter Harp appeared for plaintiff and Fowler and Connelly appeared for defendants.

Push Mussolini as Arms Mediator

Geneva, Switzerland, Oct. 13 (AP).—The Italian delegates today unofficially suggested Premier Mussolini as a mediator in the tangled arms problems as Dr. Rudolf Nodolay, the chief German delegate, left for Berlin, apparently resentful of a plan to introduce a formal resolution which in effect would bar the Reich from any defensive armaments.

Dr. Nodolay will confer in Berlin with his chief, Chancellor Adolf Hitler. The German circles here said they expected President Von Hindenburg, as commander-in-chief of the Reichswehr (the German standing army) to share with the chancellor the responsibility of deciding Germany's arms position.

As the result of the stand of Dr. Nodolay, France, the United States and Great Britain quickly decided to change their tactics and allow Sir John Simon, the British foreign secretary, to make a report of the situation when the full conference resumes next Monday.

The chief German delegate was reported to have told German newspapers that the other powers were trying to impose their will on the Reich. He also was said to have mentioned the unreasonableness of continuing the conversations here.

It was understood Norman H. Davis, the American ambassador-at-large, had taken a prominent part in the decision to drop the resolution as remaining open-minded on the problem of the length of the first period of armament, now termed a stage of experience, in order to avoid offending the German view.

CANNOT VOLUNTARILY SURRENDER BLUE EAGLE

Washington, Oct. 13 (AP).—NRA officials moved to override challenges of President Roosevelt's recovery powers today, after joining formal administrators in rejecting proposals for minimum price mark-ups in retail stores.

Senator Wagner of New York bluntly forecast "they will be required to appear," as he summoned the National Labor Board to act today on the refusal of western Kentucky coal operators to attend an arbitration hearing yesterday.

Hugh S. Johnson ruled that no employer may voluntarily surrender a Blue Eagle.

The Washburn-Fairweather expedition scaled three hitherto unclimbed peaks of the Fairweather range in Alaska this year.

Smithsonian Institution Given by an Englishman

The Smithsonian Institution is located in Washington, D. C. The institution is an adjunct of the government, established by act of congress in 1846 to take advantage of the terms of the will of James Smithson, an Englishman, who left his entire estate to the United States to found an institution bearing his name and intended for "the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men."

It is controlled by a board of regents who may accept gifts without action of congress, in furtherance of the purpose of the institution. It has also acquired numerous of its collections.

The board of regents consists of the Vice President of the United States, the chief justice, three members of the senate, three from the house and six private individuals named by congress. The members, under the act accepting James Smithson's gift and creating the institution, are the President of the United States, the Vice President, the chief justice and the cabinet.

Ball of the Lost Lutine
 The bell of the lost Lutine—the ship that was once the pride of the British navy, which went down off the island of Terschelling in the North sea on a night in October more than 100 years ago, with all hands save one, retrieved by Lloyd's, which attempted the salvaging operation in 1857, hangs today at Lloyd's in Leadenhall street in London, and a chair and a table made from the rudder, which was brought up at the same time, stand in the room where the directors meet. For years the bell has rung to announce the arrival of a missing ship at some port, or the news that one more ship has been lost. Three strokes of the Lutine's bell are taken in marine and legal circles to mean that underwriters must settle, and money owing to the crews must be paid over to their heirs.

Origin of Military Colors
 The origin of military colors can be traced to the dim beginning of history, a fact which is confirmed by excavations in India bringing to light evidence that there was a "cult of the standard" over five thousand years ago. These primitive symbols were made of metal or wood. They are frequently mentioned in the Bible: "The children of Israel shall pitch every man by his own standard, with the ensign of their fathers' house." It was not until just prior to the Christian era that we find standards made of cloth, silk or damask. The standards of Julius Caesar's army were made of metal, usually surmounted by an eagle.

Scotch, Scots, Scottish
 In the United States the adjectives Scotch and Scottish are ordinarily used almost interchangeably, although literary usage prefers the form Scottish. In Great Britain the modern tendency is to use Scottish or Scots instead of Scotch, the first being favored in literature when applied to the nation or its institutions except law, which is known as Scots law. It is correct, however, to speak of the literature of the Scots or of Scottish literatures. Scotch is used of bonnets, caps, collies, misters, terriers, thistle, tweeds, or whisky, and other things. The people are Scots or the Scottish people.—Literary Digest.

Early Fashion Plates
 In the days before the advent of the fashion magazines and fashion plates the designers of modes in France sent dolls dressed in the newest styles to England to show the modistes makers there what French dressmakers were doing. These "sample" dolls were also sent to America regularly, but not so often as to Great Britain. They occasioned great excitement among the inhabitants of our rookwood New England coast, for even in those early days women wanted to be small replicas of the fashionable of Paris and London.

Labour Declares Boycott
 Washington, Oct. 13 (AP).—Boy-cot was declared by the American Federation of Labor convention today against goods and services supplied by Germany, Italy, Russia, China, or "any other country" which forbids free trade unionization.

Last Pre-Campaign Meeting For Drive

The last pre-campaign meeting of the workers in the Kingston drive for the Boy Scouts will take place tonight at 7:15 in the Governor Clinton Hotel when representatives of the 28 teams of the seven Kingston divisions will meet for consideration of prospects and to lay plans for the drive that begins next week. All captains are arranging to be present or to be represented and to have as many of their workers as can arrange to be there.

There will be a division of women workers in the Kingston organization according to the announcement of the community chairman, Charles W. Walton, and the division will be headed by Mrs. Clarence Dunn who will have associated with her four captains appointed by local women Scout backers.

Harry L. Edson, captain of Team No. 22 of Charles R. O'Connor's division, reports the following members of his team: Frank Thompson, Sam Scudder, Lincoln Spencer, Edward Pootan, C. A. Baltz, J. E. Phelan.

The first report of the campaign work in the Roundout Valley made last night showed that Ellenville has turned in $114.55 toward their goal of $500. As this report was made by only 13 of Ellenville's 47 workers, the outlook is very encouraging according to campaign leaders.

WALLKILL COMMUNITY COMMITTEE MEETING

All but one of the committeemen were present at a meeting of the Wallkill Farm Bureau committee at the home of Gerow Schoonmaker on Thursday evening. In addition to Mr. Schoonmaker, Wilbur VanWyck, A. E. Zimmer, Alfred R. Bedell, Valentine Garrison, J. T. Tucker, W. J. Clark and Albert Kurdt were present. Mr. Tucker represented the board of directors. Mr. Clark and Mr. Kurdt, the Farm Bureau office. The committee arranged for two local pasture meetings next summer, two poultry meetings, two twilight fruit meetings, a pruning demonstration, a winter fruit meeting and another field meeting next summer. In addition they will cooperate in the county program.
The membership was divided between Gerow Schoonmaker and Alfred R. Bedell. The rest of the committee will assist them in the canvassing which will start on October 25. They will also encourage members to renew by mail between the 15th and 25th, to avoid the necessity of personal solicitation.

GERMAN CITIZENS MUST REPORT FOREIGN INVESTMENTS

Berlin, Oct. 13 (AP)—Three years' imprisonment, loss of civic rights, loss of personal fortune.
Those German citizens have been given to understand, as the penalties facing all who fail to report foreign investments to authorities.
The law providing the penalties to protect Germany against the flight of capital abroad becomes effective October 21, the deadline for filing reports.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 13 (AP)—Stocks and staples tapered nervously today under the "round money" implications of the administration's Liberty Loan campaign proposal involving the issuance of low lower-yield long-term bonds totaling some $2,000,000,000.

There was no great selling rush in those equities and commodities whose substantial price advances were based partly on the belief there would be a drastic inflation of the currency, prices generally eased in spiritless trading. Bullness roles in most stocks. Some of the highest grade issues, which might benefit by an anti-inflationary program, showed resistance. Wheat dropped about 1 cent a bushel and other cereals were soft. Cotton was a little heavy. "Gilt Edge" bonds were steady to firm. The dollar soared in foreign exchange dealings.

In shares, fractional advances were recorded by American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey and some other utilities. Losers of 1 to 2 or more included Allied Chemical, Chrysler, DuPont, New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Delaware and Hudson, Liggett & Myers, Union Carbide, U. S. Smelting, American Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, Santa Fe and U. S. Industrial Alcohol.
The delivery of 323 in freight car loadings for the week ended October 7, was better than the usual seasonal decline registered at this time of year. The drop under last week's aggregate was attributed partly to high coal prices and the holding up of shipments as the result of labor troubles.

As an offset to the lagging of freight traffic, Dun & Bradstreet reported a sharp increase in retail distribution over the United States. The week-end review found the "most impressive pickup of the fall season" occurred in general trade movements.

JUST TO START

The business man's son, his school begins thick upon him, intended to teach the world in general, and his father in particular, the manner in which modern commerce should be conducted.

"You may rely on me, father," he said to his first day at the office. "I will devote my whole life to the interest of the business. It will be my ambition to keep the family name free from stain."
"That's the spirit," said his father. "As the office boy for some position, and to add clean the brass nameplate on the main door."—Vancouver Press.

More Uses Than One

Patty and Jean were calling at the home of a neighbor where there were no children. They saw a wooden ruler lying on a desk. Patty picked it up and asked the lady of the house wondering.

"What do you do with this?" "I use it to measure things with," she replied.
"Why?" exclaimed the child, "that is what mamma spansks us with."—Indianapolis News.

Like Fish

A man bought some sausages and asked his landlady to cook them for him.
"How'll I cook them?" she asked.
"Fry 'em like fish," replied the lodger.

The next morning when the landlady served them, she remarked: "I hope you'll enjoy your breakfast, sir, but there's not much in these things when they're cleaned out."

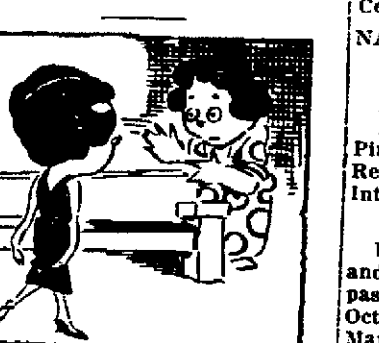

Light Sleeper

A man walked into the foreman's office and stated that he had come to reply to the firm's advertisement for a night-watchman.
"What are your qualifications for this job?" asked the foreman.
"The man scratched his head.
"Well, guv'nor," he said, "the least bit of noise wakes me up!"—Tit-Bits Magazine.

On Horns of a Dilemma

"Son," said dad, "are you planning to marry that girl you have been running around with?"
"Er, we have talked about it, dad," replied son, "but she doesn't like our house, while I wouldn't live with her folks on a bet, and what I'm making wouldn't keep her in cigarettes and paint, let alone pay for an apartment."

REMITTANCE

"So, Maude is divorced. I knew when she married in such haste that she would repent at leisure."
"Oh there's no repentance in her case; she gets two hundred a month alimony."

What For?

One of the fruit-stall men in the city market was striving hard to add a few cents to the total of his sales.
"We've got some fine alligator pears," he suggested.
"Silly," laughed the very, very young housewife. "We don't even keep a goldfish."

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, Oct. 13.—Friday, October 20, is the date set by the West Shokan Baptist Ladies' Aid for the holding of its annual Halloween supper. The date was advanced in order not to interfere with plans of the Sunday school which will observe the festive occasion this year.
Hot roast beef and the fixings, prepared in the manner by which the fame of local Auxiliary has become county wide, will head the bill of fare. First tables will be served at 6 o'clock. Numerous out-of-town patrons are making reservations. Everyone is cordially invited. A program of musical entertainment will follow the supper.

Lester Barringer of Krumville was a business caller in West Shokan Heights Wednesday afternoon.
A shower of greeting cards and letters descended upon Sylvester Jones of West Shokan Heights, who stood on the threshold of his 53rd birthday, Thursday, October 12. "Uncle Ves," although still a bit uncertain on his feet, has staged a remarkable comeback from the shock he sustained on Tuesday, August 25. During the following week Mr. Jones was showered with letters and cards of sympathy numbering nearly a hundred.

Welcome to the new Main street residents, Mr. and Mrs. Reese Smith and family of Phoenixia, who have located in the former Winchell residence, now the property of William V. Colange.

Contractor Albert North is employed on a job in Shokan.
Chase Davis, veteran West Shokan Heights farmer, is undergoing treatment by Dr. Cosgrove, the newly located Shokan physician.

Dr. Henry L. Bibby of Kingston, town health officer, with his nurse examined the pupils at the Brodhead school Wednesday.

Mrs. Charles H. Weidner of Hickory Hill entertained at a Home Bureau meeting Wednesday.

Sunkist yellow pumpkins smiling contentedly in the warm October sun adorn the front porch of Judge Fred L. Weidner's North Main Street residence. Most pumpkin growers report a short crop this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Teller returned to Kingston after closing their Watson Hollow Inn recently.
A concrete bottom over a sub-base of stones and gravel was put down in the new Davis barn shed addition in West Shokan Heights Thursday. Harold Constable, John Bell and Sam Cassalini assisted with the work. A power mixer was used.

Dr. Dumond of Olive Bridge called on old friends here Wednesday morning.

Community festivity will prevail Saturday night when the promised mid October dance, sponsored by Howard Lucht, will have its fling.

LITTLE JANET ANDERSON IMPROVING AT HOSPITAL

Little Janet Anderson, 2½ year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Anderson of 41 Delaware avenue, was reported today as greatly improved. It was thought at first that the little girl had been run over Thursday by an auto driven by her uncle, Joseph Bennett, but members of the family believe that the little girl got onto the running board of the car as Mr. Bennett was turning it around in the yard and that she rolled off. Members of the family stated today that there were no marks on the child's body to indicate that she had been run over by the auto. In the police report of the accident the child's name had been given as Jeannette Bennett, which was in error.

MOUNTAINS WERE COVERED WITH SNOW SIX YEARS AGO

West Shokan, Oct. 13.—The present mellow weather with no frost of the season as yet, is much in contrast to that of Saturday, October 13, nine years ago, when a northwester howled down over the valley, blasting vegetation, littering roads with tree limbs, damaging roofs and raising disturbances generally. The mountains were snow covered, while rain pelted the lower levels during the preceding night. It was perhaps the earliest mountain snow on record for the lower Catskill region. Residents aptly termed the blow, a young blizzard.

"WHERE YOU MEET YOUR FRIENDS."

"PRINCESS" MARIE,
CHIC CHARWOMAN,
FOOLS THOUSANDS

Borrowed Heavily From Host
Who Believed Her
Queen Story.

Prague.—A charwoman's ambition to become a princess has led Marie Bina, the daughter of a stonebreaker in Moravia, into trouble with the Prague police. Her story has an aristocratic and romantic touch.

On arriving in Prague from her native village some seven years ago, Marie Bina found employment as maid of all work and later as companion. Here she learned the names of aristocratic families, good manners and how to dress. She also found two photographs of Prince and Princess Liechtenstein, and as her birthplace belonged to the feudal estates of this ancient family, she appropriated the pictures.

Well dressed and well mannered, Marie Bina then made the acquaintance of Z. Jovanovic, a foreman printer in a large Czech publishing firm, who had private means and owned a house in the city. The acquaintance with the distinguished looking lady soon ripened into friendship and Jovanovic offered to take her into his family.

Gave Costly Gifts.

Marie Bina told her hosts in confidence that she was the daughter of a large landed proprietor at Battelau and gave them to understand that she was living under an assumed name. On inquiry Jovanovic learned that the owner of the Battelau estate was no other than Prince Liechtenstein. Marie Bina thereupon modestly admitted that her real name was Princess Marie Antoinette Liechtenstein. Soon afterward letters began to arrive for Marie, signed "Prince Liechtenstein," in which the head of the family never forgot to make a few kindly remarks about the Jovanovics or to mention a trifling souvenir he would beg them to accept.

Thus, Jovanovic considered it not only his duty but an honor to tend the prince, through his daughter, various sums of money when the old aristocrat complained in his letters of extortionate bank interest on loans for the purchase of a new car or the building of a new villa.

Jovanovic Checked Story.

At last Jovanovic became a little worried about the size of the outstanding debt. Marie Bina was equal to the occasion. She produced a letter, signed by her "father" in a shaky hand, in which the old prince said he felt that his days were numbered, and to show his gratitude to Jovanovic he proposed to adopt and make him the sole heir of the family estates at Battelau, Teltsch and Elagrub.

Thereupon the Jovanovics traveled to Battelau with the photographs of Prince and Princess Liechtenstein and inquired of the villagers whether they were really those of the owners of the estate. The answers were in the affirmative. Now the last shadow of suspicion was allayed, and when a little later the "princely father," who seemed to have somewhat recovered, required 700,000 crowns to build a summer residence, Jovanovic sold his house and placed the proceeds at Marie Bina's disposal.

The bubble burst by accident when the prince, who is still alive, failed to show any wish to adopt Marie's benefactor.

Desire for Pet Parrot
to Die Too Fulfilled

Savannah, Ga.—William A. McGloin's final wish that death might not be allowed to separate him from a talking parrot, his pet for more than thirty-five years, has been fulfilled.

McGloin, a retired locomotive engineer, feared that the bird might suffer when he was no longer here to take care of it. Accordingly, when his physician advised him that his recovery from his illness was improbable, he asked his sister, Miss Cecilia McGloin, to see that Polly was killed as painlessly as possible.

Miss McGloin agreed. Her brother died one morning, and that afternoon a veterinary surgeon was sent for to chloroform the parrot, which was buried on the same day as its late master.

Cow Mistaken for Bull
Gets Revenge on Youth

London.—An outraged cow which was mistaken for a bull soothed its injured dignity in its pasture at Wellborough, Northamptonshire. Farmers there have retaliated against young couples who forget to close the gates after them, by putting frisky bulls into the fields. So when a young man saw an animal trotting toward him and his sweetheart, he thought he had found a chance to display his courage. He whipped off his coat and threw it over the horns of the beast. But the "savage bull" was merely an amiable cow with friendly feelings. So it dropped his coat in the pond.

Buffalo Man, 81, Leads

Policeman Lively Chase

Buffalo, N. Y.—Despite his eighty-one years, Frank Gordon is still pretty fast on his feet. When he saw a young patrolman approaching his home, he jumped from the porch and began to run. It was four blocks later that the patrolman finally caught up with him. Gordon was sought to answer to charges of disorderly conduct.

Rich in Mineral Deposits
The Katanga district of Belgian Congo contains one of the most extraordinary mineral belts in the world, a strip extending for about 200 miles, with a width of from 15 to 60 miles, in which at least 150 deposits of various minerals are known.

Radicals Riot at
NRA Headquarters

New York, Oct. 13 (AP).—Mounted police rode their horses through crowds of rioters today at NRA headquarters at the Hotel Pennsylvania in midtown New York. Police said radicals numbering 3,500 were responsible for the disorders.

More than fifty arrests were made. Groups of demonstrators, bearing placards and banners were pushed back to sidewalks and police attempted to chase them out of the neighborhood.

More than 2,000 strikers in the cleaning, dyeing and tailoring industry assembled at the hotel at 10:30 a. m.

NRA officials charged the demonstration was inspired by a communist faction which refused to be taken into right wing unions following NRA mediation in a threatened strike of 25,000 workers of neighborhood shops.

Under the terms of the mediation right wing unions were to be recognized and cut prices in the industry were to be abolished.

Banners carried by the demonstrators proclaimed a right to select their own labor organization.

Time Bomb May Have Caused Plane Crash

Chicago, Oct. 13 (AP).—Status which investigators believe might have been caused by a time bomb have been found on the wreckage of an air transport liner that crashed Tuesday night, killing seven persons near Chesterton, Ind.

Investigators for the department of commerce brought fragments of the wreckage to a Chicago laboratory for examination. The fragments, including small pieces of the metal fuselage and the side of a bottle, bore stains which investigators believed were caused by gun powder or nitroglycerine.

A federal official said holes torn in the fuselage and wreckage in the baggage compartment of the huge air liner also indicated a terrific explosion had sent the plane crashing to earth as it sped from Cleveland to Chicago with a cargo of passengers and air mail.

"There is considerable evidence of an explosion," said the federal official who reported finding of the stained fragments.

SHANDAKEN

Shandaken, Oct. 13.—Miss Helen Knight, R. N., of Brooklyn, N. Y., is spending a two-weeks' vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burr Knight.

Miss Peggy Osterhoudt entertained a number of little girls Saturday afternoon in honor of her ninth birthday. Games and refreshments were enjoyed. Those present were Alta and Doris Townsend, Margaret Hummel, Marian and Gloria Platt, Barbara Townsend, Dawn Ford, Mary Ellen and Beatrice White, Jacqueline and Mary Ross.

Albert Brown and Fred Rosa were Kingston shoppers Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Weitzner, who have been spending the summer at Ackley Lodge, returned to the city Wednesday.

Miss Dorothy Coons is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. B. Johnson, in Hobart, N. Y.

The local Home Bureau unit met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Osterhoudt. Miss Brennan of the State College in Ithaca, taught the lesson on "Rearrangement of Living Rooms", after which the class under Miss Brennan's instruction proceeded to rearrange Mrs. Osterhoudt's living room with pleasing results.

The Men's Class of the M. E. Church will meet tonight at the church hall to install new officers and reorganize. All members are urged to attend and help plan activities for the fall and winter months.

The Home Bureau will hold the first community sing of the season in the M. E. Church hall Friday evening, October 20 at 7:30. No charge of any kind will be made. Everybody cordially invited to come and sing the old songs.

IDENTITY AS SLAYER
OF SHERIFF J. L. SARBER

Lima, O., Oct. 13 (AP).—Harry Pierpont, escaped Michigan City, Ind., convict, was identified by police today as the slayer of Sheriff Jess L. Sarber, killed when John L. Dillinger, paroled Indiana convict and suspected bank robber, was liberated from the Allen County jail last night. The identification was made by Detective Inspector Bernard J. Ronney, of Lima, and several deputy sheriffs.

Immediately after the identification officers went to Leipsic near here and took into custody for questioning Fred Pierpont. Pierpont denied knowledge of his brother's whereabouts.

Harry Pierpont, officers said, was one of the ten convicts who escaped from the Michigan, Ind., State Prison September 26.

Beany to Play With The Yellow Jackets

"I have big news today," said Ken Dyson concerning his Yellow Jacket's game with the Albany Lucky Strikers Sunday afternoon at the Fair Grounds. "Don Beany of the West Point Service Detachment and a former Yellow Jacket star, has agreed to play with us and will be in the lineup against the Luckies."

Manager Dyson went to West Point Thursday and procured the services of Beany, whose presence on the Wasp eleven is expected to bolster its chances of winning. He is exceptionally fast, despite his weight of over 260 pounds, and as a punter is one of the best booters along the Hudson valley. He proved this while playing with the Jackets in the past.

Christmas, Too.

Alabama Christmas, another West Pointer, who has been with the Bees before, also agreed to play for Dyson, and will be with the Kingston outfit when it travels to Sing Sing on Sunday, October 22. Christmas will not play this Sunday because he previously promised to take part in a game with the Artillery Detachment, of which he is a member.

The Beany-Christmas combination should prove a great asset to the Yellow Jackets, in the contention of many local fans.

Besides Beany, there will be another new face in Sunday's lineup. Al Flanagan has joined the team again and will be out for the first time against Albany.

Expected Bees to Win

"The Jackets looked good in practice last night," said Dyson in conclusion, "and I think our chances of winning Sunday are more than bright. The boys are in better physical condition than they were for the Fordham A. A. game and are ready to put more strategy into play than they did last week."

Starting time of the game is 2:30 and indications are that there will be a crowd as large as last Sunday, despite the defeat of the local grid-ders by the highly touted metropolitan eleven.

In reference to the Sing Sing game on the 22nd, Manager Dyson said buses will leave the American Legion at 10 a. m. Fans wishing to make the trip may make reservations for transportation with Dyson by notifying him or the ticket man at the box office this Sunday.

Probable Starters for K.H.S. at Schenectady

The probable starting lineup for Kingston High School in its game with Mt. Pleasant High School of Schenectady there Saturday afternoon will be as follows, Coach G. Warren Kias announced today:

Tony Debrosky, left end; Emil Noce, left tackle; Tibor Tomshaw, left guard; Morgan Ryan, center; Emanuel Levy, right guard; Frank Every, right tackle; Bob Every, right end; Jim Cullum, quarterback; Mark Tiano, right halfback; Clifford Van Valkenburgh, left halfback; Ray Saehoff, fullback.

In a light workout at the Athletic Field Thursday, Coach Kias stressed blocking and signal drills in preparation for Schenectady which last week held Albany Academy to a scoreless tie. Six veterans from last year are on the upstate team, which is said to be one of the best in the history of the school.

Last year, Kingston defeated Mt. Pleasant by the score of 6-0, and Albany Academy, the school which last week failed to tally against the Schenectady squad, downed Coach Kias's men 13-9. Albany's failure to do anything with the team last Saturday indicates a stronger battle array for Schenectady and a tougher game for Kingston, it is contended.

To date Kingston has won two games. It defeated Monticello 38-0 and Peekskill High 18-0. The second game, which was played at the Fair Grounds, went a long way to prove that Kingston has great possibilities of winning the DUSO League this year. Previous to losing here, Peekskill High took over Roosevelt High at Yonkers and Roosevelt game will leave the high school Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. Scheduled starting time of the contest is 2 o'clock.

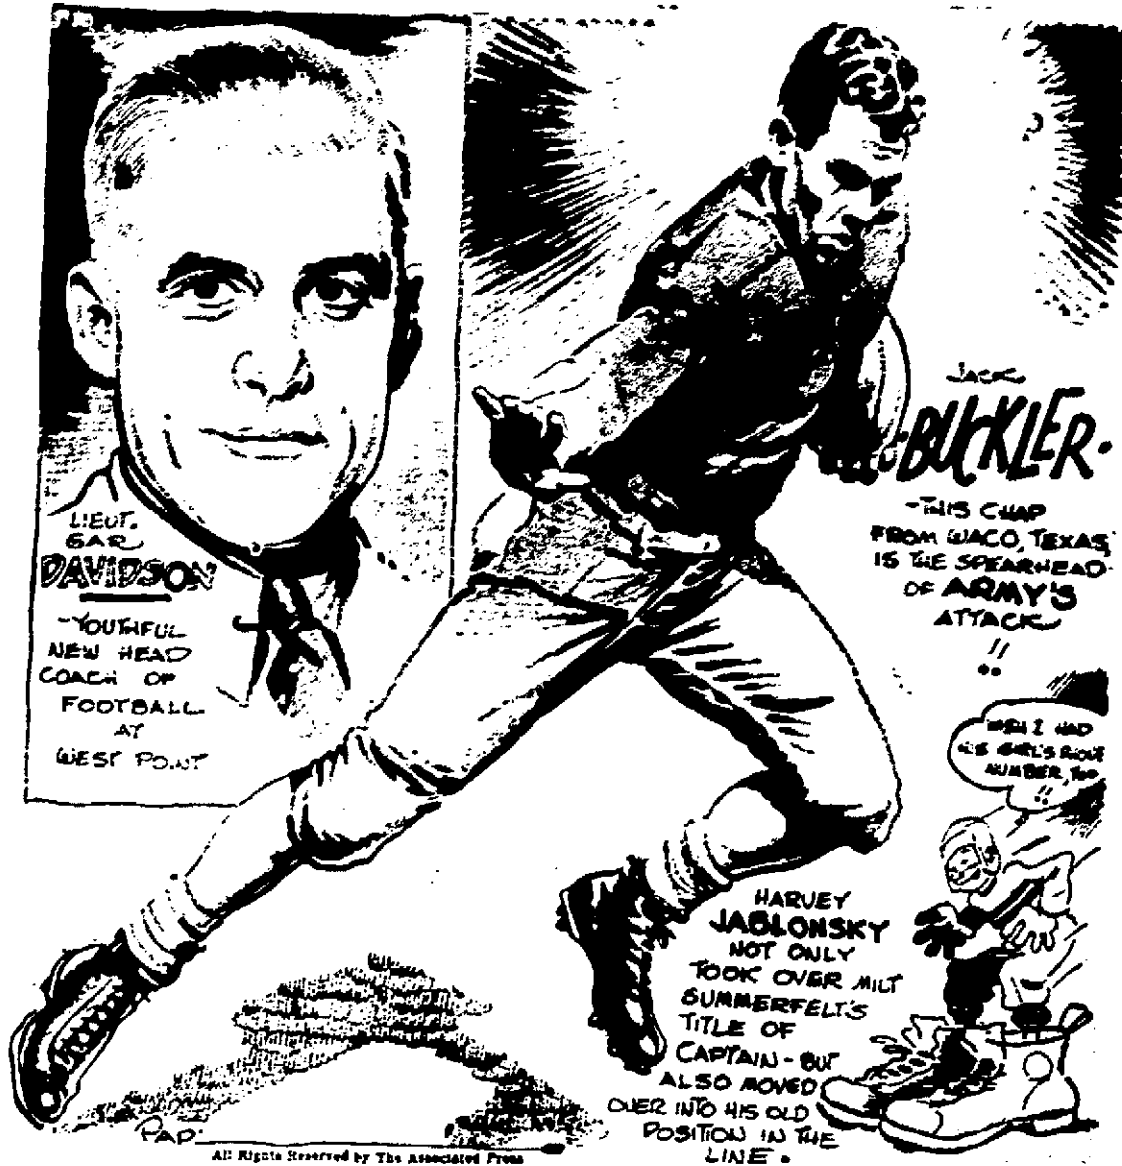

Bowling Champion At Emmerick Alleys

Joe Falcaro, world's professional bowling champion, will appear in an exhibition at the Emmerick Bowling Alleys on Albany avenue, Monday, October 23. Mr. Falcaro will give his exhibition at night but will arrive here early in the day and for two hours in the afternoon will give instructions to ladies interested in bowling.

Several requests have been received by Homer Emmerick, proprietor of the alleys, to form a women's bowling league, and Mr. Emmerick has called a meeting of all women interested in such a league to be held at the alleys Wednesday, October 25, at 7:30. Any woman or group of women interested in a league are invited.

PUNTS and PASSES

By The Associated Press

South Bend, Ind.—Notre Dame's football squad always has been known for having plenty of reserves, but the plans for tomorrow's game with Indiana have revealed a new situation—six quarterbacks and no "regular." Coach Hunk Anderson hasn't found an outstanding pilot among his quarterback candidates so far this season so he decided to take all six along.

Ithaca, N. Y.—There's a whisper going around that Cornell must have a pretty good team this year. Only 27 players, an unusually small squad, were taken along to play Michigan, an opponent which will take plenty of beating.

Evanston, Ill.—Dick Hanley, who takes an eastern team to California for an all-star game every year is not very optimistic about the chances of his Northwestern team against Stanford. Although Northwestern looked much better in yesterday's practice, Hanley still insisted he expected to lose.

Detroit—Coach Gus Dorais of the University of Detroit has his own ideas about penalties and one of them is that he doesn't want them called against his team, especially when the charge is holding. "The man who holds," he said, "is confessing he isn't a good enough player to retain his job by fair means."

Nashville, Tenn.—In Rand Dixon, sophomore fullback, Vanderbilt has a punter and passer who might cause a lot of trouble for Ohio State, but he won't. Dixon suffered a fractured arm last Saturday against North Carolina.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

There has been no secret about his exploits this year, even with a third place club, but it seems appropriate at this time to ring the well known welkin in behalf of James Emory Fox, the Sudlersville Slugger.

There will be a well-conducted publicity campaign calculated to boost Columbia Lou Gehrig into the picture being gradually vacated by Babe Ruth but the fact is that Fox has already moved well out in front of the clouting carnival, so far as personal achievements are concerned.

For the time being the burly first baseman of the Athletics is Ruth's successor in everything but the mantle of nation-wide popularity and the personal glamour that surrounded the Babe and will depart with him. Gehrig, an upstanding, durable young man with many excellent qualifications for public attention, has no more chance than Fox when it comes to supplanting Ruth in the imagination and hearts of the American baseball public.

He Outhits Simmons

But we started out to pay tribute to Fox, rather than become sentimental over the departure of Ruth and all that the big Bam meant to baseball followers.

The remark was frequently made last spring that Fox would be some day or handicapped or something by the departure of his old cleanup companion, Aloysius Simmons. It didn't seem plausible to us then and it is less so now in view of the tabulated returns for the 1933 season.

Fox has outhit Simmons by about 20 points, leaving Al well behind in the race for the American League batting championship. Last year Fox was deprived of the batting crown in the last few weeks by the rush of a big lumbering fellow up in Boston, Dale Alexander, who made a delayed start and topped Fox by three points in the final averages.

Alexander was at bat nearly 200 fewer times than Fox and his all-around record did not compare with that of the A's ace but he won the championship just the same. This season Alexander is not even hitting .300 and no one else batted up to make it close for Fox.

In the somewhat general falling off of slugging averages, Fox has not connected for as many home runs as he did last year, when he fell two shy of the major league record with a total of 58. When this was written Jimmie had 47, with only a few days to go, but here again he outdistanced the field in both major leagues. No other clouter approached the 40-mark and Ruth was hard-pressed to have second place from the rush of Gehrig.

Tops 'Em All

Fox likewise tops the list in runs batted in, which is the final payoff, so far as usefulness at the bat is concerned.

For the second straight year, therefore, Jimmie has led the home run parade and driven in more runs than any other player in either big league.

He topped the regular first basemen last year in the fielding percentage and he leads all the American League hitters this season.

All of which is sufficient reason why Fox is the All-American first baseman for 1933 by a substantial margin.

Vatican City

Vatican City includes St. Peter's, the Vatican palace and museum, covering more than 18 acres, the Vatican gardens and neighboring buildings between Viale Vaticano and the church. Thirteen buildings in Rome, although outside the boundaries, enjoy extraterritorial rights; these include buildings housing the congregation or officers necessary for the administration of the Holy See.

Decisive Tests for Cream of Grid Crop

By HERBERT W. BARKER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

New York, Oct. 13 (AP).—Tomorrow will bring decisive tests for a half dozen teams annually conceded a place near the top of the football rankings.

Southern California, Pitt, Michigan, Notre Dame, Tennessee, Purdue and Northwestern are confronted with the kind of opposition that should determine just how far they are going to travel along the road that leads to championships.

Both Notre Dame and Northwestern are asked to rally from opening game disappointments. The Ramblers, outplayed and held to a scoreless tie by Kansas, will seek to regain lost prestige against Indiana's Hoosiers who took advantage of one break to earn a tie with Minnesota's highly regarded Big Ten title contenders.

Northwestern has even more ground to regain for the Wildcats were beaten by Iowa in their opening game two weeks ago. A decisive triumph over the invading forces of Stanford will go far toward wiping out the enemy of that unexpected reverse.

Michigan-Cornell.

Michigan, undisputed champion of the Big Ten a year ago, will rule a favorite over Cornell but will find the Ithacans, ably coached by "Gloomy" Doble, a handful. Pitt, likewise, will be the public choice over Navy in the east's one big-time struggle of the day.

Tennessee in the advance notices at least has been regarded as the most formidable power within the Southeastern Conference but the Vols will be no heavy favorites over Wallace Wade's Duke outfit. Purdue, on the face of its hard-earned victory over Ohio University, seems to rate no better than an even choice against Minnesota, but Southern California will be expected to continue its winning ways even though the opposition will be furnished by the St. Mary's Gaels, defeated 41-12, by California a week ago.

Sectional Battles.

If football dynamite seems more likely to be concealed in these seven games, there are, at least, a score more important contests involving sectional or inter-sectional prestige.

Starting off with such games as those involving Haskell and Temple at Philadelphia, Clemson and George Washington at Washington, and Detroit and Washington and Jefferson at Detroit, the schedule provides a host of other interesting pairings for tomorrow.

In the East, Syracuse and Ohio Wesleyan, Virginia and Columbia, and Washington and Lee and Yale will offer the inter-sectional rivalry while West Virginia-Fordham, Colgate-Rutgers, Georgetown-Massachusetts, Bucknell-Villanova and Lafayette-New York University are the principal domestic duels.

Surprising Mother of Lobsters

When the earth's crust first hardened into rock, millions and millions of years ago, some of the veins in the rock were filled with a stuff called serpentine. It is this serpentine which is the mother of asbestos. Mined from rock in Georgia and Canada, serpentine is ground up into soft white pulp stuff which is very light and quite tough. The pulp is then broken up, cleaned and carded like wool for weaving into cloth.

Sherron on War
The saying "War is hell," is always attributed to him, but General Sherman himself gloried in it, or failed to recall having said it. John Kooibek of Harlem, Iowa, who was on the staff of General Winfield, testified he heard it from Sherman while the general was watching his troops cross a pontoon bridge at the River Pearl after the Battle of Vicksburg, in 1863.

Hurricanes Not Called

Cyclones at Beginning

Hurricanes originate in the tropics. If they become large enough, hurricanes become cyclones. But the term cyclone seldom is used, because people in areas usually visited by destructive storms have become accustomed to hearing the hurricane warnings and would be confused, and possibly lulled into a feeling of security, if the less ominous term of cyclone were used in describing the approach of a storm.

A tornado is in the cyclone family, however, because all of the destructive windstorms begin with high temperatures and areas of low pressure, which start the circulation of air. Thereafter, the fury of the storm is cumulative.

Tropical cyclones generate and rage in the Caribbean sea near the West Indies, in the China sea and in waters near the Philippine islands. The Philippines know such storms as baguio, while a similar storm on the China sea is known all over the world as a typhoon. The wind direction in all such storms is horizontal and circular. In tornadoes, water spouts and twisters, the motion is vertical and circular.

Weather experts, aided by traditions of the sea and actual observation, have found the center of hurricane origin as "the doldrums." The doldrums was the prison of many a ship in the days of sailing vessels. It is a spot in the sea off the northeast coast of South America which becomes calm in late August or early in September.

Word "Yankee" Believed

To Be of Indian Origin

The exact origin of the word "Yankee" is vague, but since the early English Colonists of Massachusetts were first called that it is commonly accepted that Yankees, or Yenghees was the Indian's effort to pronounce "English," says Pathfinder Magazine. Others say it was the Indian corruption of "Anglais," the French word for "English." If the latter is the case the name must have originated with the Canadian Indians, since they were the first to come in contact with the French. The word was used by the British soldiers about 1775 as a term of contempt for the New Englanders. During the Civil war the southerners applied it generally to all northern people, while in Europe it is quite common to refer to all Americans as Yankees. Properly speaking, it applies only to a citizen of the New England states.

Uniform Postage Rates

Agitation for a uniform and cheap rate of postage between countries led to a conference at Bern, Switzerland, where on October 9, 1874, the General Postal union was created. This union included, besides most of the European countries, the United States, and succeeded in lowering the average rate from 30 to 5 cents. A second conference met at Paris in 1878, changed the name to the Universal Postal union, and adopted a code known as the "Convention of Paris." Nearly all civilized countries are now members. In 1924 Switzerland issued special stamps to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the code. The stamps show the building in which the 1874 conference met. Switzerland occupies a peculiar position in the union, for the government of the Swiss confederation is the chief executive of the U. P. U.

Most Successful Melodrama

"A Celebrated Case" was one of the most successful melodramas ever produced in this country. It was from the French and was written by Adolphe Philippe D'Ennery and Eugene Cormon, who wrote also "Two Orphans." Sheridan Shook and A. M. Palmer, partners and managers of the Union Square theater, New York, obtained it for production for their theater. It was presented for the first time on January 23, 1878. A. R. Cazauban, a New York journalist and linguist who was Palmer's house dramatist, and literary adviser, was responsible for the translated or paraphrased version which became so famous in this country.

"Short" Sale on "Change"

"Short" sale on the Stock Exchange involves the sale of any security not actually owned by the individual making the transaction. The broker borrows the stock that is to be sold and requires the same amount of margin that he would require on a purchase, but not less than $10 a share, the minimum margin acceptable under Stock Exchange rules. The short seller hopes to benefit by a decline in price, and if the stock goes down makes the difference between the purchasing level and the sales level, minus the commission charges and federal and state taxes. When the stock is bought back the operation is known as "covering."

Most Famous Midget

Gen. Tom Thumb was a well known circus midget whose real name was Charles Heywood Stratton. He was born in Bridgeport, Conn., January 4, 1838, joined the P. T. Barnum show in 1852 and married Lavinia Warren, another midget, in 1863. General Thumb died July 15, 1893. Mrs. Thumb continued with the circus and a few years later married Count Magri, an Italian midget. She died at the advanced age of seventy-eight years.

The Flying Wrecker

By JOHN MARSHON

C. B. McChesney, Newspaper Syndicate, N.Y. Service.

THE FLYING ACE!

See the Human Comet—Zooming in Thrilling, Death-Defying Stunts! TODAY at the MIDDLETOWN Fair!!

BILL RANDALL brought his low-bellied, snappy yellow roadster to a stop in front of the Middletown General store to read the flaming red poster in the window.

"I'll take a spin out to the big shindig and see what's up," Bill said to himself.

The big roadster shot down the highway toward the fair grounds, leaving a trail of dust and of gasping natives in its wake. As he neared the air field, Bill could hear the throb of the motor in the air.

Fascinated, he saw it come nearer and nearer to him. It lifted a little—lost altitude again—and then shot right at his car. Instinctively Bill ducked. There seemed to be the roar of a thousand railroad engines in his ear, a rending of the canvas top of his car and the plane shot upward. As the plane sped upward and onward, Bill drew a long breath as he looked at the torn remnants of canvas hanging on the body of his car. "Human comet—my eye!" he whistled softly. "That guy must be a meteor!"

He watched the plane circle over the field and sweep down to land at the far end of the field. The pilot jumped from the cockpit and came dashing across the field toward Bill.

"I'm awfully sorry I scalped your car!" With a single gesture the Flying Ace snatched off his helmet and goggles and tossed back an unruly mop of wavy, curly, chestnut colored hair. "I really only meant to give you a scare."

Bill's eyes did not cover up his amazement. This flying ace was a girl! And Aubrey Garrett at that! Wonders will never cease. Finally Bill regained some of his lost poise and grinned at the attractive girl in front of him. "What do you do with the scraps you collect? Hang 'em on the tail of your plane for souvenirs?"

"Well, that's not a bad idea. Seeing that your's is the first I've taken. I think you ought to be honored."

"Honored, but slightly shaky in the plan, but—" That was as far as Bill got. Mr. Wilson, the chairman of the fair, came running toward them. "I'm sorry, Miss Garrett, but I'll have to cancel that agreement I made with you. These people have all seen loops before. They want to see something novel."

Bill hated Mr. Wilson for causing that hurt look in Aubrey's eyes. But it didn't last. A smile covered her face as she turned to Bill and said "Want to go up? We can show 'em some tricks."

The game little kid! She would never admit being beaten. Well, he'd take a chance with her. "Okay, let's go!"

A few minutes later they were starting. Aubrey was flying a bit wild. They were directly over the field when something happened. Aubrey was flying high. Perhaps they hit an unexpected air pocket. Bill didn't have time to think what had happened as they were headed for old terra firma with a sickening speed. There was Aubrey standing in her cockpit frantically waving to Bill to jump. There was Bill waving back to her and shaking his head. Then suddenly there was a jerk, a shudder of the whole plane, a rocking in the air, and the machine straightened out and slid along level with the ground, just above the hill!

As they taxied across the field, Bill could hear the thunderous applause of the spectators above the roar of the motor. And as they made a safe landing, people swarmed around the plane. Mr. Wilson came pushing his way through the crowd to Aubrey.

"That was marvelous!" he said. Heavens, thought Bill, does the man think she did that swoop on purpose? "That was wonderful, Miss Garrett. A remarkable exhibition of control. I'll take back what I said about the contract and I'll give you another hundred to do it again!"

Bill got out of the plane and joined Aubrey. "She won't do it again today, Mr. Wilson," he said. "That was the grand climax. The show is over."

To Aubrey he whispered "Come on over to the car. We'll take a little spin and I'll do the piloting."

Aubrey looked very small and white to Bill as he stopped the car. "Now, if you don't mind telling me, I'd like to know just what happened to us up in the heavens a little while ago." Bill's voice was gentle.

"It slipped," said Aubrey. "And I thought I had lost control. I thought that if you jumped it would be all right—at least you'd be safe. But, good heavens, when you wouldn't jump, there was nothing left for me to do but to grab that stick and hold it. I didn't want to wreck you and your car both on the same day."

"So that was it, young lady. But you're wrong. You've wrecked my life as well as the top of my car because I've taken an awful flop. Aubrey, I love you! And it's high time I realized it. But now that I have let's make up for lost time by getting married. Are you with me?"

Aubrey's smile conveyed her answer. They kissed to seal the pact and then Bill started his car once more, speeding for the nearest marriage license bureau.

Labor Pledges to Support Recovery

Washington, Oct. 13 (AP).—The American Federation of Labor reached the concluding sessions of its 30th annual convention today, agreed to support President Roosevelt's Recovery Program but fully determined to continue the workers' fight for greater benefits under it.

This was the campaign challenge of William Green after his unanimous reelection yesterday to his tenth year as president of the more than 3,000,000 organized workers.

"I'm going to lead this army of organized labor forward until all of us enjoy the rights and privileges to which we are entitled."

With overwhelming votes behind them for shorter hours and higher wages under NRA codes and against unregulated currency inflation, few major questions remained to be disposed of by the nearly 600 delegates.

Among the resolutions to come up today, was on condemning charged persecution of trade union workers by the Hitler regime in Germany.

Local Death Record

The first anniversary Mass for the repose of the soul of Peter J. Dugas will be offered in St. Mary's Church Saturday morning at 7 o'clock.

Anna J. Hutton McCullough, wife of Hugh McCullough of 95 Spring street, died Thursday afternoon following a long illness. Surviving besides her husband are one son, John; her mother, Mrs. Katherine E. Hutton, one brother, Joseph H. Hutton, and two sisters, Katherine D. Hutton and Mrs. Ralph Cooper. Mrs. McCullough had been a lifelong member of the Houdon Presbyterian Church and regularly and faithfully attended all its services. She had a wide circle of friends who will learn with deep regret of her death. Funeral services will be held at the family home Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Montrose cemetery.

Ships Ordered Back From 4 Cuban Ports

Washington, Oct. 13 (AP).—Quicker conditions today prompted the removal of American warships from four Cuban ports, but 16 vessels remained in the island waters.

The vessels stationed to safeguard American nationals at Manzanillo, Mantanzas, Cienfuegos and Puerto Padre were included in the withdrawal. They were respectively the destroyer Hamilton, coast guard cutter Hunt, destroyer Goff and coast guard cutter Gresham.

State Department officials said the action meant no change in the status of the present Cuban government so far as recognition was concerned.

The Raven and Crow Are Sisters Under the Skin

Poet's Raven and America's Crow, the Raven and the Crow, are sisters under the skin. While the raven tapped doors, the crow tapped eggs of nesting birds—the harmful influence of both the legendary emblem of death and the plagues of corvids accounts to the same thing.

"It is doubtful," states a publication of the United States Department of Agriculture, "whether any other bird is of as great economic importance to the farmer as the crow. In fact, it takes anything from the choicest poultry and the tenderest shoots of sprouting grain to carion and weed seeds. The fact that no less than 600 items have been identified in its food gives some idea of the bird's resourcefulness."

During the months when young crows are being hatched and reared, the parents are persistent hunters for the young and eggs of wild birds and poultry. The bureau of biological survey states in a report on crow damage at a federal waterfowl sanctuary: "The chief enemy of the ducks was the crow. This bird destroyed 30 per cent of the eggs."

There are four related species of crows: The Florida crow, fish crow, southern and western crow.

Birds That Laugh

Our green woodpecker is famous for his ringing, laughing call, but of all birds it is the kookaburra, or laughing jackass, a large Australian kingfisher, which laughs most heartily. Australia has also a laughing owl, as the white-throated nightjar is called, with notes so like pealing laughter that one laughs to hear them. The lyre-birds of Australia imitate the laughter of the kookaburra, and any other sound they hear—human laughter, the screams of a pig in its death throes, the noise of a horse or dray, complete with the rumbling of wheels and the rattle of chains, the buzzing of a saw or the swish of a coach driver's whip. Several of our gulls have a laughing cackle, while the penguins called "jackass" utter a laughing, braying note all through their nesting season, laughing from dawn till dusk.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness at the time of the death and funeral of our husband and father, Edward H. Murphy.

(Signed)
MRS. EDWARD H. MURPHY AND SONS.

Green Feed for Hens

Feeding the laying hens green feed tends to keep them in good health and to promote egg production, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Green feeds are one of the best sources of vitamins for poultry. Mangels and turnips provide some succulence, but very little green feed. When cabbages are available at reasonable cost some may be fed, but good quality alfalfa also should be supplied. Alfalfa is valuable, not so much because of its protein content, as formerly believed, but because alfalfa leaves are rich in minerals and vitamins, which are lacking in the mash ration. Alfalfa leaf meal is a good substitute for fresh green feed.

POULTRY FACTS

North Carolina farm families consumed 8,800,000 chickens in 1932 and sold 5,010,000.

Test adds to the cost of a poultry ration, but does not improve the nutritive value of a good ration.

When it comes to backing up a contract with a SURETY BOND, it pays to hand the job over to Aetna.

Backing their business. They have the resources and facilities to jump right in and "make good" whenever a contractor doesn't live up to his contract.

The fact that a hen's egg is composed of two-thirds water indicates the importance of having a supply of clean water before the biddies at all times.

PULLETS REQUIRE PROTEIN IN FEED

Normal Development Should Be Chief Aim.

Poultrymen cannot make up for a deficiency in breeding by cutting down the protein in the feed to delay early laying, says Prof. L. C. Norris of the New York state college of agriculture. Tests at Cornell show that pullets need from 14 to 15 per cent of protein in their feed during the period from twelve to twenty-four weeks of age. When less protein was fed, laying was delayed for about ten days and the growth of the pullets was retarded.

Normal Development Should Be Chief Aim.

Poultrymen need an early-maturing type of pullet of proper size and vitality which lays as large an egg as that laid by a pullet which starts to lay at a later age. Such a pullet is cheapest to grow, because she uses relatively less food for maintenance and more for growing in the non-productive period than does the slower growing bird. A pullet which reaches a weight of three and three-fourths pounds at five months of age and begins to lay, is cheaper to grow than the pullet that takes six months. Moreover, he says, the early-maturing pullets lay more eggs in a year than the slow-growing birds. Size of bird, size of egg, and vigor must be considered in breeding the flock, along with early maturity.

Blown Away by the Wind

Saving poultry feed would seem to be a penny-wise and pound-foolish policy, as usually understood. When one speaks of "having feed" he usually refers to cutting down on the grain and mash fed the growing chicks or hens, with the hope that the birds will be able to pick up additional feed around the yards or in the fields to make up what the owner does not give.

Green Feed for Hens

Feeding the laying hens green feed tends to keep them in good health and to promote egg production, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Green feeds are one of the best sources of vitamins for poultry. Mangels and turnips provide some succulence, but very little green feed. When cabbages are available at reasonable cost some may be fed, but good quality alfalfa also should be supplied. Alfalfa is valuable, not so much because of its protein content, as formerly believed, but because alfalfa leaves are rich in minerals and vitamins, which are lacking in the mash ration. Alfalfa leaf meal is a good substitute for fresh green feed.

POULTRY FACTS

North Carolina farm families consumed 8,800,000 chickens in 1932 and sold 5,010,000.

Test adds to the cost of a poultry ration, but does not improve the nutritive value of a good ration.

GOOD NEWS FOR HOUSEWIFE

You can now have clean apples if you come from the orchards of Ontario. Ask for: A. B. Cook, Lake Ontario, Thatcher Farm, Highland, Ontario, Park, Uster Park, Ray, Ontario, Huron. These people are growers of fine fruit. They also have the Bates fruit sizer, cleaner and polisher for removing dirt and wax from their apples which give you the very best possible apple wherever you buy. Ask for apples cleaned with the Bates fruit sizer and polisher. They are better for your children. This machine is designed and manufactured by George G. Bates, Kingston, N. Y. DON'T TRIFLE WITH COMMON CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief

Constipation gets its grip on a person almost unawares. It often starts with such little things. Headaches. Listlessness. Bad complexion. Unpleasant breath. If unchecked, it may seriously impair your health.

Fortunately, you can avoid this danger by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides two things needed to overcome common constipation: "bulk" and vitamin B. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of iron for the blood.

Biological tests demonstrate that the "bulk" in bran is similar to that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much better than taking unpleasant potent medicines. Two tablespoons of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. Serious cases, with every meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Business Girls Heard About Economics

The Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. had as guest speaker at its meeting on Wednesday evening, Frank W. Mason of Sangerville, who spoke on "Today's Economics".

Mr. Mason spoke of the world-wide scope of the present economic difficulties and the need of international understanding in building the new world. He heartily endorsed the NRA as a step in the right direction, at the same time suggesting that it would take far more than that to bring order out of chaos. There is a great need today for the spirit that characterized our pioneer ancestors, both perseverance and a high idealism, he said.

Miss Helen Bryant, president of the club, presided at the meeting, which was well attended. The program next Wednesday evening will be in charge of Miss Helen Bradburn, and the main feature will be a one-act play written by Mrs. Nan Rodie DeWitt, a former resident of Kingston and member of the local Y. W. C. A. The play, "How Sally Got a Husband", will be put on by the following cast: Miss Frieda Niebergall, Miss Janet Phillips, Miss Ruth Bell, Mrs. Lillian Lasher, Miss Jessie Goodsell.

The club will have the usual supper at 6 o'clock on Wednesday, followed by the play. Young business women who do not find it convenient to attend the supper are urged to come in for the program.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes
By JEAN NEWTON

GIVING WITH GRACE

"THE word sacrifice," says a well known author "should have no place in marriage, because it breeds selfishly and is an artificial thing any way you look at it."

There is a very big question that this brings to mind, which it seems to me is applicable not only to marriage, but to all our contacts in life. And that is the question of giving with grace.

When we make a so-called sacrifice for one we love, that is, when we give up something or do something for him or her, we are doing it, are we not, because we want to do it, because we want that something for the one we love? Then we are doing it for ourselves.

And yet how many people with the best of motives, the most unselfish intent, spoil such giving and doing by making it apparent that this is a sacrifice, by showing the cost of effort involved. In other words, because they lack the grace in giving.

There is an old European story about a cow who gave exceptionally rich milk, and in greater quantity than most cows. But she spoiled it all by kicking the pail over.

That is exactly what people do who are always making sacrifices. The benefit in what they do for others is vitiated by the consciousness on the part of the latter that it is a sacrifice. No one can enjoy anything that is the result of pain or labor or sacrifice on the part of some one else.

Let us never sacrifice. Let us give and do what it is in our hearts to give and do for those we love, with joy in the doing, with thankfulness for being able to serve those we care for—and with grace that enhances the giving.

England's Oldest House

Minster abbey is reputed to be England's oldest house. According to tradition, the picturesque dwelling, which is located on the Isle of Thanet, near Margate, in the southeastern corner of England, dates back to King Egbert of Kent, who lived in the early part of the Ninth century. Egbert granted half the Isle of Thanet to his niece, Domneva, and she erected Minster abbey as a nunnery. Later it became the property of the monks of St. Augustine's, Canterbury, remaining in their hands for five centuries, or until the dissolution of the monasteries. James I sold the abbey and it has since been used as a private residence.

Death Granulates Cells

Cells in the body become granulated after death, the American Association for the Advancement of Science was told. Actual "life" in the cells is called cytoplasm and it is invisible. Methods of using stains that have always made invisible matter visible fail to work in the case of cytoplasm. It cannot be seen until after death and the granulation begins to take place. A cell dying slowly has more chance to come apart and fat or oil comes out of the cell most often, in droplets. Cells dying of starvation use up all their reserve food supply and then digest part of the cell's living material to keep the rest alive. This also happens in fever.—Answers Magazine.

Goldfish From Carp Family

Goldfish had their origin with the Chinese who are and have been famous fish breeders. They were developed from the carp family and their size decreased with domestication. They are said to have been introduced to Europe about 1691. Goldfish as we know them do not exist in a wild state but those so-called goldfish found in Chinese rivers and in one or two in this country have reverted to their natural state. They are not only darker, but range from five to twelve inches long, resembling their ancestors, the carp.

A sunflower stalk at Cincinnati owned by Mrs. Carrie Helmann supported 75 blossoms.

DISLIKES POLITICS

ENTERING P-T. A. WORK.

Editor Freeman:

I have just bought from Mrs. John Campbell a ticket to a card party of the Parent-Teachers' Association of School No. 2, to be held in the school on Saturday afternoon, October 14. On the back of the card party ticket is a picture of one of the Democratic candidates, with the words, "Your support and a kind word to your friends in my behalf will be appreciated."

I think it is terrible to bring politics into the schools. Many of the women of School No. 2 district think the same. I will not attend the card party.

Is there not some way to prevent this? I think this sort of stuff will hurt the Democrats more than it will help them. They ought to be ashamed of themselves.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely bear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from Metrica Drug Stores or your druggist 1 oz. Eustachian Tube Strengthener. Take this dose and add to it ½ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Eustachian tube is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any undue accumulation in the middle ear and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective. Every person who has catarrh in any form of Eustachian tube, having sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.—Ad.

Dignity, a Fetish With Fashionables

DIGNITY DONE IN LACE

New York—It may be that the role of bride's mother, or mother of the groom awaits you, in which case won't you please consider looking like the dignified person in today's sketch? Isn't she just too grand for words? Yet, if you look closely, you will see that her lace frock is really simple. If you are in a haste as to what the "crin." referred to in the description means, let me remind you that it is hair net or lace, and therefore stiff enough to accommodate itself to the occasion and to the current style picture.

From far and near comes word that wild blackberry, which just escapes being black, is fashion's preference to black. Not that hosts of smart women will not wear black, too, but you know how it is when something really new comes out. As a matter of fact, all the rich, dark shades are good for evening, especially in lace and velvet.

The "vintage" shades are strongly accented for both day and evening wear. Wine variations, purple tones, and the russet colorings appear in woollens, silks and velvets.

Explant is another one of the dark tones liked. In fact, all purples and blue purples are very smart, and many of them are made smarter by the introduction of fuchsia and red tones generally.

Another regal type of thing has its inspiration from the Chinese, and is a costume threaded with metal in Chinese motifs and in the colors peculiar to them. Tunes being flattering to mature figures, and tunes being sympathetic with the Chinese idea, makes this particular phase of the mode of special interest and value to women who aim for dignity and for charm in their apparel rather than in the more spectacular style items.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

The three-tiered skirt after Lucille Paray is developed in several interpretations, adding a fourth tier by means of square cut or rounded cape.

One of the most unusual of the new combinations of twin sweater sets and skirts is to feature the plain set with diagonal broad ombre stripe wool-skirts.

Still Another Neckline

One of the most interesting necklines which have developed from the Paris August openings is the one attributed to Vionnet, and which combines a rather low cut at front with a high neckline, which is rather the reverse of the recent formula of high front and low back as regards formal fashions.

The cut of this neckline is arresting, suggesting, as it does, a triangular form, the base across the top of the bust and the other two sides slanting in close to the neckline.

Novelties for Day and Night

The knitted costume warrants the attention of smart women because of such ideas as Vionnet's high in dress with metal "blouse" top, front and buttoned down the back line. The two-piece effect is also endorsed here while the fashion of velvet trimmings and of striped woollens is also recognized.

A new type of semi-formal frock is seen in the floor-length dinner dress with metal "blouse" top, shown as an ensemble with matching three-quarter wrap, an answer to the problem of what kind of a coat to wear with the new length cocktail frock and dinner hat.

Slim Attendance
At Armory Pageant

The pageant and exhibit which was arranged by William J. Duffy of this city at the old armory Thursday evening was but thinly attended, and Mr. Duffy later in the evening said he planned to hold it again on election eve.

An aftermath of the pageant occurred at 1 o'clock this morning when Elton Pryma, Louise and Mary Mundy, three Brooklyn girls, called at police headquarters and informed Officer Fallon, acting desk sergeant, that they had received a telephone call from Joan LaMar, as Duffy is known in entertainment circles, to come to Kingston to take part in the beauty pageant at the old armory Thursday evening. They said that the pageant was a "hoax." They also said that LaMar had told them to hire a taxi at his expense to ride to Kingston and they had done so and that the taxi bill was $20.

Officer Brophy brought Duffy to headquarters and he agreed to make good the taxi bill within 48 hours, which according to the notation on the police blotter, was satisfactory to the taxi driver.

Modern "Bluebeard"
Of Italy Executed

Volley of Bullets In The Back End
47-Year-Old Cesare Serviatti's
Gruesome Career—Three Women Victims.

Spezia, Italy, Oct. 13 (AP)—A volley of bullets in the back at dawn today ended 47-year-old Cesare Serviatti's gruesome career as Italy's modern "Bluebeard."

Serviatti was tied to a chair and shot in the spine by a squad of carabinieri. A huge crowd witnessed his death.

He was convicted and sentenced in the court of Assizes on eleven counts July 7, all connected with the mysterious disappearance and subsequently confirmed deaths of three young women who had given him their affections and life savings. His testimony revealed that the modern bluebeard's victims were three.

One was Beatrice Marguerucci, formerly of 101 Franklin avenue, Long Branch, N. J. He made matrimonial advances to her shortly after she arrived in Italy. After obtaining the savings she had accumulated during many years as a domestic, he murdered her October 30, 1930. Her body was cut in pieces and thrown into the Tiber at Rome. Some of the grisly relics were recovered by police.

Another woman, Pasqua Bartolini, was killed and disposed of in the same way.

The debacle in Serviatti's bloody amorous affairs came when he deviated from the river system of disposal.

Italy was aroused last November with the finding in railway stations of suitcases containing portions of a woman's body. Two of the suitcases were found at Naples, one at Rome.

Finally, after long police search, the contents of the suitcases were identified as portions of the remains of Paulina Gorietti. Authorities were told she had had a sweetheart called Serviatti in Spezia.

"Bluebeard" was arrested promptly and confessed. He said he had kicked Paulina to death during a lover's quarrel. Prosecutors, however, established the piling motive of Serviatti's crime, and drew from him full confessions regarding all three.

One of San Francisco's largest street railway systems has not had a fatal accident in four years, carrying 71,815,286 passengers the last 12 months.

MAKES NEW OIL WHICH IS NEAR VITAMIN A

Akron, Ohio, Oct. 13 (AP)—A new, pale yellow oil 9,200 times more potent than ordinary cod liver oil was described to the Ohio-Michigan branch of the American Chemical Society here today.

The oil is almost pure vitamin A, said its maker, Prof. Harry N. Holmes, of Oberlin University. It represents America's stake in an international scientific race to be first with isolation of vitamin A, the disease-resistance builder.

At the University of Zurich, Dr. Karrer has produced a similar oil 10,000 times as powerful as cod liver oil; while three Englishmen have reached vitamin A concentrations in similar oil 6,500 times and 7,800 times stronger than the fish oil.

Professor Holmes gets his near-vitamin A from halibut liver oil. He converts the halibut liver oil into a very old-fashioned substance, soap, getting rid of all except seven or eight per cent of the fish oil, and leaving the vitamin concentrated in the left-over liquid. Modern solvent processes wash this liquid out of the soap.

Field beans produced the largest cash income of any crop grown on Michigan farms in 1930, 1931 and 1932.

Gold Fever Attacks Philippines;
Igorotes Threaten To Mob Miners

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

Manila, P. I. (AP)—A gold rush of big proportions was stimulated both in the mountains of northern Luzon and in Manila by the order of President Roosevelt opening the higher-priced foreign markets to the output of mines in the United States and possessions.

In the mountains the activities of prospectors brought a dispute with Igorote tribesmen which threatened to develop violence.

Share Market Active

At Manila millions of shares of stock, in concerns with actually producing mines and in others more recently organized to exploit claims, have changed hands.

In one recent week transactions in mining shares on the Manila stock exchange totalled 2,250,000 shares.

The par value of most of the securities is small, ranging from five to fifty cents in American currency, but the quotations on the stock of the two chief producing concerns, Benguet Consolidated and Balatoc Mining, reached up to $18 a share.

Igorotes Guard Rice Crop
The stock is distributed among many thousands of Filipinos and Americans, but some of the recent speculative buying has been for Hong Kong and Shanghai purchasers, brokers stated.

Visions of war between the Igorotes, diminutive half-wild tribesmen, and the "wild cat" prospectors, reminiscent of the clashes between prospectors and Indians in the American west of another day, were aroused by urgent appeals from the Bontoc country to Manila representatives. Provincial and constabulary officers were directed to take steps to prevent an outbreak.

The prospectors, it was claimed, trampled the laboriously constructed rice terraces of the Igorotes on the mountain sides in staking claims and digging tunnels.

Representative Hilary Clapp, himself an Igorote, went to the Bontoc section in response to a report that

Rice Paddies Vs. Gold Mines

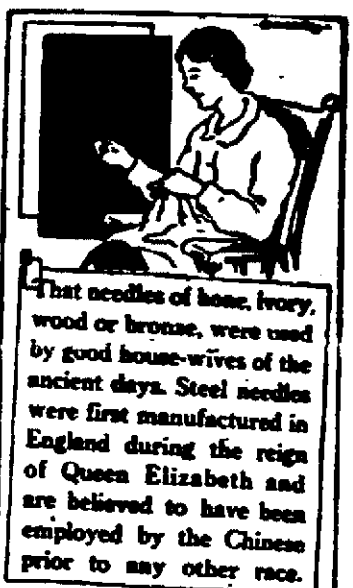

Skyrocketing gold shares on the Manila stock exchange, whose main board is shown left, have sent prospectors into the mountains north of Manila where they have come in conflict with Igorotes who claim that the terraced mountain sides. The group (upper right) is typical of the half-wild tribesmen.

4,000 of the tribesmen were disaffected, and that 300 had threatened to attack laborers at one tunnel. The known gold-producing area is near Baguio, a mountain resort and since 1899 the gold shipped from the islands has brought more than $45,000,000.

Spider Builds Swinging
Cradle for Young Ones

A spider rejoicing in the name of oikos coenobita, found in Madagascar, has a unique nest for its young in the form of a swinging cradle. The spider spins several threads, forming them into a stout cable, and carefully suspends it from the branch of a tree from which the cradle is to swing. The cradle itself is an empty shell, sometimes a small shell, but often a one-chambered shell ending in a point or spiral opposite the opening. The spider then travels back and forth from the branch to the cradle, which is still lying on the ground, until she decides that the rope is strong enough. When the cable is thick enough the little maker mounts to the top of it, where it is fastened to the branch, and rolls it up with her feet until the cradle swings some two inches clear of the ground. Since the spider silk is moist when first spun, and contracts as it dries, she knows it will become shorter. And here, in their shell cradles, the baby spiders rock back and forth in the breeze, safe from harm until they are ready to start out in life for themselves.

Engraving on Copper

Engraving is generally done on a thin, flat copper plate, with a small pointed tool known as a burin, or graver, which makes a V-shaped cut. The engraver works by pushing the burin, holding it almost flat against the plate. The very nature of the process makes the line more methodical, less sketchy than an etched line. The process came into use early in the Fifteenth century, and was practiced most in Germany, Italy and the Netherlands. Martin Schongauer was the first big name. After him came Albrecht Durer, head of the prolific Sixteenth century German school. Among the early Italians were Mantegna, Marc Antonio and Campagnola. The English and French engravers offer the best opportunities for them. Among the more prominent Englishmen were William Sharp and Robert Strange. The Frenchmen, who engaged in perpetuating on copper plate the work of Watteau, Chardin and Lancret, were Cochin, Audran, Tardieu, Gravelot and Moreau.

"Tekla" Pearls Man Made

Tekla pearls are made from a species of Hungarian fish that is found in Lake Balaton, which contains radium in its waters and quantities of gold fish. A kind of whitening and sheat supply the scales used for the manufacture of "Tekla pearls." There are two laboratories on the lakeshore at Siofok and Fonyod, where microscopic crystals are extracted by a treatment with ammonia from the scales scraped off the fish. The product is the raw material of the "Balaton pearl essence." Glass beads receive a coating of this essence, which lends them that warm, glossy shine that makes it so difficult to the eye to distinguish "Tekla" from genuine pearls. The coating, however, is not done in Hungary, but mostly in the pearl laboratories of France, Spain and Japan. It is the essence which is exported from Hungary, or the scales themselves, salted down in barrels.

Antimony Widely Used

Antimony, of the non-rusting and non-tarnishing metals, plays an important part in industry. Perhaps its most important use, at any rate the use which daily affects more people than any other, is its use in type metal. It has a low melting point, melting at 800 degrees. It finds its way into medical use in the tartaric form, tartaric antimony being widely used in medicine. Antimony oxide and antimony sulphide mixed are used to color glass and porcelain yellow, while in a form known as butter of antimony, antimony chloride, it is mixed with olive oil to give a brown color to gun barrels.

Antimony is usually found in the sulphide form, particularly in France, where large quantities are smelted. Antimony is also produced in Bolivia, California, Nevada, Mexico, and New Brunswick.—Washington Star.
